SPRING HAS SPRUNG. You can't keep a good flower down—not even when they are blacktopped. Hurried by the first real mild spell of the season, these two crocus plants pushed right up through the asphalt driveway at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Fagan, 410 Jackson St. The bulbs had been planted last year before the driveway was blacktopped and more appear to be coming up about a foot away, where the surface is raised and cracking. And no wonder, the weatherman said sunny skies will again produce temperatures in the 60's today and Wednesday will be a little warmer. There may be more frost tonight, however, with a low of 27 to 33 forecast. The mercury skidded to 28 at 7 a. m. in the downtown.

Suits, Extra Legislative Talks Likely

Georgia Taxpayer Asks County Unit Plan Be Tossed Out

By The Associated Press

A Supreme Court ruling that a citizen may ask a federal court to decide if his state's legislature is out of balance between city and rural representatives appears likely to set off court suits and special legislative sessions in many states.

One suit was filed within two hours after the decision was handed down Monday. A taxpayer in Atlanta asked that Georgia's county unit system be thrown out. Under the system, he argued, a man's vote in cities is worth much less than that of a country voter.

His argument is an old one. Many states have such suits pending. But the city voters had a new weapon in hand today in their long fight to prod rural representatives out of some of their seats in state capitols and get more representation for themselves.

Because of Monday's decision, their hopes were higher.

In 1946 the Supreme Court said that "courts ought not to enter the political thicket. The remedy for unfairness in districting is to secure state legislatures that will apportion properly, or to invoke the ample powers of Congress."

Monday the court decided 6 to 2 a federal court can step in and determine whether city voters are unconstitutionally discriminated against in the apportionment of legislative seats.

The case had to do wth Tennessee where there has been no reapportionment in 61 years. The decision had meaning in many other states.

Rural Setup Takes Blow In Verdict

Puts Question Of Districting Cases In Federal Courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's action to place the question of equitable state legislative districting before the federal courts could have a chain reaction on American politics.

While the Tennessee case on which the court ruled Monday involved only legislative redistricting, politicians suspect that if the U.S. courts can decide such matters it might not be long until they were asked to consider congressional districting.

Just as they have with state legislatures, many city voters have felt they have far less representation in Congress than the rural population.

As an example, 59,063 voters turned out when Rep. Ralph J. Rivers, a Democrat, was elected at large in Alaska in 1960. But 406,995 went to the polls when GOP Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church won in the 13th District of Illinois, a Chicago suburban area.

In Southern districts where there is no Republican opposition, fewer than 25,000 persons often officially choose a representative in the general election.

Most of the states have completed their changes of congressional district boundary lines on the basis of state population gains or losses shown by the 1960 census.

Many of these changes were made by legislatures under control of rural representatives who could be expected to protect as much as possible the interests of congressmen more concerned with agricultural than city problems.

Charles S. Rhyne, an attorney for the urban Tennessee voters, said the court's decision will affect every state and "could pretty well shift control of state legislatures to urban areas."

The extent to which the city vs. country controversy has progressed is demonstrated by the fact that in many other states suits are pending similar to that instituted in Tennessee.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., denounced the ruling directing federal courts to hear legislative apportionment cases as being in "direct violation of the constitutional doctrine of separation of the powers upon which our republican form of government is based."

Rep. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., was pleased with the decision. He predicted that "reapportionment as required by the Military Coup Seen Near To Oust Frondizi

Rejects Aramburu's Plea To Resign As Argentine Chief

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A military coup to topple President Arturo Frondizi appeared to draw nearer today after he rejected a plea for his resignation from his own hand-picked mediator, ex-President Pedro Aramburu.

Frondizi's insistence on holding on to the office to which he was elected four years ago drew a proclamation of open rebellion from Gen. Franklin Rawson, commander of the 3rd Cavalry Division based 180 miles south of Buenos Aires.

Rawson accused the president of betraying Gen. Aramburu's mediation efforts and said the use of force remains the only path open to those opposing Frondizi. He called on all other military units to join him in rebellion.

There was no immediate evidence that Rawson's threat was being implemented by action on any front. The position of the air force and a large segment of the army was still not clear. The navy was all for ousting Frondizi.

Extra security precautions were taken at Government House. A company of mounted grenadiers wearing battle fatigues arrived during the night.

Unconfirmed reports indicated all was normal at Tandil, Rawson's headquarters. However, the same reports spoke of unusual predawn activity at the naval base and nearby military establishments at Bahia Blanca, 350 miles southwest of the capital.

Aramburu conferred after midnight with Frondizi in the president's private suburban resi-

Rusk, Soviet Aide Reveal Some Accord

Report Says Neither Side Wants To Get In War Over Berlin

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko announced in a joint statement today that their Geneva talks have uncovered some points of agreement as well as of differences over Berlin.

It was understood from American sources that one of the points of agreement is that neither side wants to become involved in a war over Berlin. But neither side, it was reported, made a change in major policy.

The statement was issued just before Rusk and leading members of the American delegation took a plane for Washington to report to President Kennedy that the Berlin dispute remains highly dangerous though unlikely to explode in the foreseeable future.

Canadian Foreign Secretary Howard Green submitted a draft declaration to the 17-nation disarmament conference calling for action by no later than Wednesday on outlawing weapons of mass destruction from outer space.

Beaver's Due Transfer To Creek 'Home'

The big beaver which caused an uproar on the River Rd. last Wednesday night is about to have another brush with the law—or vice versa.

The animal was released on the river bank near the foot of Broadway last week after he refused to yield the right-of-way to a tractor-trailer on the River Rd., then battled the trucker and several policemen who attempted to take him into "protective custody."

Police breathed a sigh of relief when the beaver finally was persauded to enter the river off the Milliron Co. lot.

But he turned up again today. The beaver was found under an auto in the parking lot of the Potters Supply Co. at the foot of Washington St. shortly before 8 this morning. An employe chased him toward the river, then the company notified police.

Officers summoned R. L. Lide, county game protector, and said he will be asked to capture the beaver and take him to a new home on a creek in the rural area. The Potters Supply lot is only about 75 feet from the river and a short distance downstream from the spot where the beaver was released after his earlier brush with the law.

In the incident last week, the beaver crawled underneath a tractor-trailer which halted on the River Rd. rather than strike him. The trucker roped the beaver and put him into the truck bed. Then the animal refused to leave. He rode to the police station in style in the back of the big rig.

Then the tractor-trailer was driven to the riverfront and the beaver was persuaded to leave. During the excitement, an auto crashed into the rear of the tractor-trailer while it was halted on the River Rd.

Police Chief 'Stands Pat' On Resigning

Salineville Council Asks Applications For Filling Vacancy

SALINEVILLE — Applications for a new police chief — who may use his own auto if he desires—are being received by Mayor Stanley Fitch following Monday night's acceptance of the resignation of Chief Cleo Mellott by Council.

Chief Mellott, who announced two weeks ago at a disciplinary hearing he would hand in his resignation, last night refused to reconsider the action.

Councilman Donald Lewis said he believed Council should refuse the resignation — effective this Thursday — if Mellott would reconsider.

But the chief said he would not, and Council then voted unanimously to accept the resignation.

Mayor Fitch then proposed the new chief be paid $225 a month with rent and utilities free—"equal to $300 a month and the same as the previous chief received," the mayor said.

He also proposed the new chief be on 24-hour call with one day off each week.

At a meeting with the safety committee after the regular Council session, it was agreed that any applicant who desires to use his own auto for police duty would be reimbursed by Council up to 50 miles a day at a mileage rate to be determined.

The committee said a siren, emergency lights and radio would be provided for the auto.

Protest Strike Shackles Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—A protest strike gripped Algiers today, called by European settlers in mourning for the 41 Europeans killed when French troops fired into a crowd demonstrating in support of the Secret Army Organization.

Public transportation was at a standstill. Most European stores were closed. No newspapers appeared. Banks failed to open. The big outdoor market was silent and deserted. There were reports that electricity would be cut.

Hundreds of Europeans strolled the streets and most of them seemed to head for the street corner in front of the main post office where the shooting broke out Monday. In addition to the 41 settlers killed, about 130 were wounded. Army casualties were one killed and six wounded.

Some strollers placed modest bouquets of flowers on the blood-stains in the streets. Debris still littered the sidewalks. Lost shoes and berets lay untouched. Passing automobiles had turned some blood pools into long streaks of red on the street pavement.

Only a few policemen and soldiers were visible. Reinforcements had been sent in Monday after the secret army called for a demonstration and a march on the encircled suburb of Bab el Oued. Authorities banned the demonstration but the crowds gathered anyway in a gesture of defiance.

The clash appeared to have drastically altered relations between the citizens of Algiers and French troops.

Initial shock turned to hatred among the European inhabitants. Many shook their fists at the soldiers and screamed over and over: "All we want is to remain French"

Spokesmen of the Secret Army Organization, which called the ill-fated demonstration, predicted grimly that President Charles de Gaulle's government "will regret this day." But De Gaulle in a televised speech from Paris warned the secret army it could look forward only to punishment for its campaign to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels.

10-Point Plan Given Council By City Union

Unionized city employes presented Council Monday night with a 10-point proposal for improved wages, working conditions and fringe benefits, topped by a request for a general 30 per cent pay boost.

Council met in a caucus session with a six-man delegation from Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes. Fred Kane, president, presented a series of proposals that amounted essentially to a repetition of requests given late in 1961 to the Council that retired Dec. 31.

Councilmen indicated they will take the union's proposals under advisement, but explained that any major concessions would depend upon the municipality's long-range financial outlook, which will hinge on ratification or rejection of the new city income tax in the general election in November.

The other nine points proposed by the union are:

Establishment of a 40 - hour week as standard for all city employes. Some men in the sewage and water departments now average 42 hours weekly as they work a sixth day once in four weeks, Kane explained.

Time and a half pay for all work in excess of 40 hours in any one week.

A new agreement on holiday premium pay, establishing it at one and a half times the normal rate. Kane said the present agreement provides $1.45 extra per

City Group Advised Officials 'Anxious' To Locate Building

The Post Office Department is anxious to locate a new facility in East End as quickly as possible, leasing either a suitable existing building or a new structure erected specifically by private ownership, a crowd of 25 East End residents and public officials was told Monday night at a conference at the Travelers Hotel.

The group conferred with W. J. Rahter of Cincinnati, assistant regional director of the Post Office Department, who pledged himself to virtual immediate action in finding new quarters for the Station A Post Office.

The East End facility has been located in a storeroom on Mulberry St. since moving more than a year ago from space it occupied for many years in the building of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association.

Creating 'Real Chaos'

Castro Blasts Top Cuban Red, With Ouster Hinted

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro assailed "old Communist militants" Monday night for believing they are the only ones capable of leading the Cuban revolution. He accused one of them, Anibal Escalane, of creating "real chaos" in Cuba by trying to enhance his own political power.

Castro charged that Escalante, a top planner in Cuba's march toward communism, had sought through personal ambition to model Cuba's new monolithic political party along his own sectarian lines.

The Cuban leader denounced his Communist aide in a radio-television address to the nation before a considerable number of ranking government members in the studio audience.

Castro did not specify that Escalante had been dismissed from his top posts but indicated he had, saying: "We have come to explain the separation of this companion whom we consider culpable."

Escalante, 53, founder and former editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy, only two weeks ago was named to the 25-member national directorate of the Integrated Revolutionary Organizations—ORI.

Last year he was given the job of welding all Cuban organizations, including Castro's 26th of July Movement and the Popular Socialist (Communist) party, into a single party to be known as the United Party of the Socialist Revolution.

It was in carrying out this task,

2 Questions On Constitutionality

West Virginia Wage Tax Argued In High Court

CHARLESTON (AP) — Is there a tight constitutional limitation on exemptions under West Virginia's income tax law? Was the tax statute itself validly passed by the 1961 legislature?

Those questions were before the State Supreme Court today as it heard arguments on a Wood County Circuit Court order declaring that the tax is unconstitutional.

Should the appellate judges also hold the law invalid, a special legislative session would be needed. A state budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year to begin July 1 relies on the state income tax for $15 million. That revenue loss could be offset by budget - cutting, raising other taxes or a combination of those steps.

Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson and Asst. Atty. Gen. Andrew J. Goodwin appeared today as counsel for State Tax Commissioner C. Howard Hardesty Jr., who entered the lower court case as defendant - intervenor.

Wood Circuit Judge Donald F. Black, in the test action instituted by Ned H. Tanner of Parkersburg to block his employer from withholding the income tax from Tanner's wages, found the tax law invalid on these grounds:

By incorporating numerous exemptions provided under federal law, the legislature violated a section of the state constitution authorizing only one type of state exemption — "on incomes below a minimum" to be fixed from time to time.

The House of Delegates Journal failed to show a "case of urgency" when the delegates speed-

Castro charged that Escalante, a top planner in Cuba's march toward communism, had sought through personal ambition to model Cuba's new monolithic political party along his own sectarian lines.

The Cuban leader denounced his Communist aide in a radio-television address to the nation before a considerable number of ranking government members in the studio audience.

Castro did not specify that Escalante had been dismissed from his top posts but indicated he had, saying: "We have come to explain the separation of this companion whom we consider culpable."

Escalante, 53, founder and former editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy, only two weeks ago was named to the 25-member national directorate of the Integrated Revolutionary Organizations—ORI.

Last year he was given the job of welding all Cuban organizations, including Castro's 26th of July Movement and the Popular Socialist (Communist) party, into a single party to be known as the United Party of the Socialist Revolution.

It was in carrying out this task,

2 Questions On Constitutionality

West Virginia Wage Tax Argued In High Court

CHARLESTON (AP) — Is there a tight constitutional limitation on exemptions under West Virginia's income tax law? Was the tax statute itself validly passed by the 1961 legislature?

Those questions were before the State Supreme Court today as it heard arguments on a Wood County Circuit Court order declaring that the tax is unconstitutional.

Should the appellate judges also hold the law invalid, a special legislative session would be needed. A state budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year to begin July 1 relies on the state income tax for $15 million. That revenue loss could be offset by budget - cutting, raising other taxes or a combination of those steps.

Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson and Asst. Atty. Gen. Andrew J. Goodwin appeared today as counsel for State Tax Commissioner C. Howard Hardesty Jr., who entered the lower court case as defendant - intervenor.

Wood Circuit Judge Donald F. Black, in the test action instituted by Ned H. Tanner of Parkersburg to block his employer from withholding the income tax from Tanner's wages, found the tax law invalid on these grounds:

By incorporating numerous exemptions provided under federal law, the legislature violated a section of the state constitution authorizing only one type of state exemption — "on incomes below a minimum" to be fixed from time to time.

The House of Delegates Journal failed to show a "case of urgency" when the delegates speed-

Walker Quits Post As Head Of City's CD

James A. Walker of Orchard Grove Ave., president of the Woodbine Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co., has submitted his resignation to Mayor Bert H. Goodballet as city Civil Defense director, explaining he has been assigned to train again as an Army Reserve officer.

Walker held the post for three years. He explained in the letter to the mayor he has been reassigned to the 83rd Quartermaster Co. and will be required to participate in weekly drills, summer camp and other duties given reserve officers.

The mayor wrote a letter to Walker accepting the resignation with "extreme regret" and congratulating him on "the very capable job" he performed as head of the CD organization.

"I am quite sure that your many well-wishers will join me in saying 'well-done'," the mayor's letter added.

In his letter of resignation, Walker commended Mrs. Edna Sweeney, full - time secretary of the local CD organization.

"She has done much to further the cause of Civil Defense in the city," Walker wrote. "If all CD personnel were as dedicated to their jobs as she, Civil Defense would be very simple to administer."

Walker pointed out much work remains to be done in the local CD organization, adding that part of its future will depend upon plans for organizing a countywide CD group. Money also is a factor in the CD organization, as it is in the city government, he added.

The local CD organization virtually was inactive in the lull after World War II, but was revived at the time of the Korean Conflict 10 years ago. Walker was named director to succeed Thomas W. Eason, who resigned because of health and the press of business.

Dodging Mishap, Motorist Strikes Guardrail Posts

A 56-year-old district man told police he was avoiding a collision with an oncoming car when his auto struck five guardrail posts on Ave. at 6:52 Monday night, then dived over a small embankment.

Harry A. Skelton of Grimms Bridge Rd. was cited on a reckless driving charge. The entire front of his 1959 two-door sedan was damaged, officers said.

Skelton told police he was headed toward the downtown area about 50 miles an hour and was passing another vehicle when he spotted an oncoming car. To avoid a collision, he turned his car to the right, hitting the guardrails and diving over the embankment, he said.

Skelton was fined $25 and costs on the reckless driving count this morning by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. He pleaded "no contest," then said he was guilty of the violation. An affidavit signed by Patrolman Jack Strobel said Skelton drove 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, attempted to pass another vehicle in a no-passing zone and lost control and hit the guardrail.

Skelton told the judge a blowout in his right front tire caused the crash.

Countian Jailed In Beaver Case

BEAVER — Samuel Robert Hurst, 28, of Columbiana was held for Beaver County Court after pleading guilty Monday before Justice of the Peace Walter Gratz of Chippewa Township to a charge of assault with intent to ravish.

He was committed to Beaver County Jail. The charge was filed by officers of the Beaver County barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police near Beaver Falls.

Police said they received a call Saturday about 6:50 p. m. from Darlington R. D. 1, in South Beaver Township that an attempt had been made to attack a 49-year-old woman while near her home.

The man left on foot toward the state line. Investigation led to Hurst and the Columbiana County sheriff's office at Lisbon picked him up Sunday about 1 a. m. He waived extradition and was returned to Pennsylvania.

The woman, mother of several children, suffered bruises about the face and body and her clothing was torn, police said.

Firemen At Midland Called For Grass Fire

Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 was called Monday about 5:25 p. m. to extinguish a grass fire back of Virginia Ave.

Company No. 1 was sent earlier at 1:12 p. m. to check when Midland Heights fire company No. 2 was called to fight a grass fire back of Midcrest.

Industry volunteer firemen were also reported to have fought a grass fire Monday at Cooks Ferry.

Reaction

In Pennsylvania, a watchdog group called the Committee of Seventy, declared it would bring suit unless the legislature redistricts during its session which begins in January.

Gov. John Patterson of Alabama said he may call a special session of the legislature. Last summer a group of Alabama voters sued in Montgomery, asking the district court to compel the legislature to reapportion itself. Their pending suit requested the court to force candidates for House and Senate to run at large this year unless the legislature was reapportioned.

In Topeka, Kan., Dist. Judge Marion Beatty said any action on a pending suit seeking to force reapportionment of the legislature would be delayed to permit all concerned to study the Supreme Court decision. Briefs had been due Friday.

In its decision in the Tennessee case, the Supreme Court said it would be improper for it to consider now what remedy would be most appropriate if the city voters prove their case at the trial.

Supreme Court sources, however, said this would be the follow-up on the ruling.

After 25 days of the Supreme Court clerk notifies the special three-judge federal court in Nashville that it has authority to act on complaints. The special court will hold a trial to give complaining voters an opportunity to try to prove their claims.

If the special court decides that urban voters' rights to equal protection under the 14th Amendment have been denied, it will determine what remedies to order.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox, arguing before the Supreme Court in support of urban voters, suggested a simple declaration by the special court that present Tennessee districts are unconstitutional would probably lead to action by the Tennessee Legislature to correct inequities.

Cox said that if the legislature resists, the special court could order one of the following:

An election at large.

The value of votes of state senators and representatives be reduced by an amount necessary to offset over-representation — giving legislators fractional rather than full votes.

Simple changes in legislative districts.

Opponents of such orders could appeal to the Supreme Court.

Reapportionment battles may be varied and complex judging from past and present skirmishes.

In Albany, N.Y., observers said the Supreme Court decision foreshadows new court contests in New York by Democrats seeking to end Republican control of the legislature.

The 1962 legislature had considered reapportioning seats this year and moving some from Democratic-controlled New York City to the predominantly Republican suburbs. Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller came out against the plan. Rockefeller, seeking re-election this year, was said to feel the Democrats might effectively charge discrimination and have a strong campaign weapon in New York City.

In Maryland, the chief counsel of the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation, Alfred L. Scanlan, said the decision "points the way in the long run to doing away with this gross malapportionment of the legislature.'

The citizens group is now pressing its case before the state's highest court.

Maryland hasn't been reapportioned in this century. This year the House passed a bill to give a majority of the seats to metropolitan areas but the Senate killed it.

Two suits are on file in Oklahoma and attorneys said they would press for decisions as soon as the Supreme Court decision can be studied.

Blaze Burns Over 2 Acres Of Timberland

EAST PALESTINE—Two acres of timberland at the farm of Albert Suffolk near Negley were burned over in a blaze Monday afternonon at 3.

Three grass fires caused only slight damage in the immediate city area yesterday afternoon. Firemen were called to Route 14 about 1:38 p. m., to near East North Ave. School about 2:45, and to Carbon Hill Rd. about 6:30.

Federation's Town Project Group Named

Several chairmen and committees were named at the initial meeting of the town improvement committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs Monday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Mrs. Faye Wright, chairman, named Mrs. Marie Hays, co-chairman; Mrs. Mary Daily, secretary; Mrs. Angie Frank, chairman, Mrs. Helen Sanford, Mrs. Helen Bendheim and Mrs. Hays, landscape committee, and Mrs. William Cooper, chairman, and Mrs. Marian Christopher, city limits committee.

Mrs. Wright announced the slogan for the beautification program is "Operation Facelifting." Representatives of 18 clubs answered roll call. A bank account has been started with several of the clubs contributing.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, federation, spoke on the aims of the project.

Committees will meet with an architect to see what can be done with landscaping the approaches to the city, Chester, Midland and Wellsvillee. A discussion was held on billboards which obstruct the view at the city limits.

Among the suggestions were flower baskets, to be hung from the street lights, and the casting of zenia seeds over wide areas. All clubs are asked to mail in opinions for beautification.

Next meeting is tentatively planned April 30 at the annex.

Death Postpones Conference Set By City Officials

A Council-administration conference scheduled Monday night on several municipal problems was postponed at the request of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet because of the death Sunday of Tom Owen of Vine St., father of Safety-Service Director Robert Owen.

Council President Charles N. Edwards said the mayor said a new date will be set for the conference on improvement of St. Clair Ave., the landfill dump at Bloomfield and other questions.

Meanwhile, city officials and employes will meet tonight at 7 at City Hall to proceed to the Martin Funeral Home in a group to pay final respects to Mr. Owen.

Edwards also reminded the councilmen of a special session Wednesday night at 11 to act on the annual appropriation ordinance.

The meeting was set late to arrange the attendance of two members who will be working 3-11 p.m. shifts that night — Kenneth Berg at the Homer Laughlin China Co. and Edward Massey at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The session may be as late as 11:30 getting under way — depending upon the time Massey and Berg arrive, Edwards said. The temporary three-month appropriation under which the city has been operating since Jan. 8 expires Saturday midnight.

BEAVER — Beaver County commissioners today named Jack Kelly, Beaver Falls merchant, as a member of the Beaver County Housing Authority to succeed Lee B. Cain of Freedom, who died recently.

Other members of the authority are John F. Phillips of Midland, Jack Prather of Monaca, Walter Wuycik of Ambridge and Joseph Edwards of Rochester.

Kelly will serve a five-year term beginning April 1.

Commissioners awarded a contract on the low bid of the Beaver Asphalt Paving & Construction Co. of New Brighton for 16,000 gallons of road oil for county park roads. The low bid was 12.4 cents per gallon and the cost will be about $1,984.

Commissioners also appropriated $750 to the Beaver County Fire Chiefs Association for a countywide fire school.

They agreed to arrange for four free band concerts during the summer at Brady's Run Park near Beaver Falls.

SALINEVILLE — Fourteen volunteer firemen brought a grass fire under control at the home of Dr. J. M. Nedelkoff of Route 164 Monday night about 6:30.

Newell Firemen Set Bylaw Action

Plans to hold a special meeting April 2 were discussed when Newell volunteer firemen met Monday night in the station.

Amendments to the constitution and bylaws will be discussed at the special meeting April 2 at 6:30 p. m.

A group of 4-H Club members are planning a program for later in the fire hall on Civil Defense. Date of the program for youngsters and their parents will be announced.

Chief Arch Coen was in charge of training on hose layout and operation of the pumper truck.

Next meeting is April 9 and lunch will be served by Earl Cordray, Joe Danko and Gene Lytton.

Health Board To Air Wellsville Vacancy

Plans for a Civil Service Examination for a city health officer will be discussed at a meeting of the Wellsville Board of Health Thursday night at 8 at the City Hall. John H. Grafton, board president and commission clerk, said 18 have turned in applications for the exam. The deadline for the applications is Wednesday.

The vacancy was created by the death of O. B. Kessel in February. He had served since 1955.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., called the decision "one of the most far-reaching ever rendered." He said it "sweeps away the balance of powers between legislative, executive and judicial functions."

Final Effect In Ohio On Decision Up In Air

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Final effect in Ohio of the U.S. Supreme Court decision on possible re-apportionment of state legislature districts evidently won't be clear for some time.

The Supreme Court held that city residents can sue in federal court if they feel they do not have fair representation in their legislature.

An Ohio taxpayer who filed suit against the Buckeye State's apportionment hailed Monday's decision on a Tennessee case.

James D. Nolan of Cleveland, who is in Atlanta, Ga., for a convention, said:

"We hail this historic decision from the U.S. Supreme Court to bring equal voting rights to all citizens."

Nolan filed his suit in U.S. District Court in Columbus. He contends city voters are denied equal representation because of an amendment to the Ohio Constitution that gives each county, regardless of population, at least one seat in the General Assembly.

The motion was heard last April 5 but Federal Judge Mell Underwood reserved a decision pending the outcome of the Tennessee case.

Nolan seeks invalidation of the 1903 Hanna Amemdment. That measure change the 1851 Ohio constitutional provision basing apportionment on the 10-year census.

Nolan said, "We plan to ask for an immediate hearing now."

Earlier, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle expressed the opinion that it will take an amendment initiated by the voters to repeal the 1903 amendment. He pointed out that Ohio's re - apportionment is automatic under the state constitution but that the 1903 amendment does permit unequal representation.

dence, then told newsmen that Frondizi had declared "he is not resigning and will not resign."

The ex-president, one of Argentina's most respected figures because he ended military government three years after the overthrow of dictator Juan Peron, issued a proclamation declaring the consensus of everyone he had consulted was that Frondizi's resignation was the only solution.

Frondizi's office confirmed that "the president of the nation expressed to Gen. Aramburu that he maintains firmly his decision not to resign his post."

Frondizi appeared to stand nearly alone in the darkest hour of his four years in office. He had the backing only of a diehard segment of his own Radical Intransigent party.

"The only thing on his side is the constitution," said an associate dejectedly.

125 Honor Former City Teacher

Miss Anna Martin, retired teacher of Garfield School, was honored with a recognition party by former students and teachers who were under her supervision, Monday night at the school. About 125 attended.

Hargraves was master of ceremonies and presented Miss Martin with a scrapbook of letters from far and near. She became principal of the school in 1920 and retired in 1942. She resides at 600 Andrews Ave.

Heasley extended the welcome. A letter was read from the Rev. J. Davis Barnard of Arcadia, Calif., former pastor of the Grace United Presbyterian Church, who was the first president of the association. Owen presented an orchid to Miss Martin and Means gave her a purse as a gift of the group.

An instrumental sextet, Vincent Maola Jr., Ted Koenig, Paul Jarvis, Randy Stover, Herbert Fenton and Al Demkowitz, played "Beale Street" and "Panama" in Dixie Land style. Mrs. Maola was accompanist.

Mrs. Hargraves Jr., sang "Londonderry Air" and "The Sunshine of Your Smile."

Several barbershop selections were presented by "The Stepping Tones," Mrs. Edith Alexander, Mrs. Marjorie Stover, Mrs. Madalyn Mack and Miss Jo Ann Vannoy.

Ernest Lowe, accompanied by his wife, sang "Faraway Places" and "The Wayward Wind."

Refreshments were served at a buffet table, covered with a green cloth, and highlighted with an arrangement of spring flowers flanked by yellow tapers in three - branch silver candelabra.

Former teachers who poured at the silver tea services were Mrs. Nell Chapman Riel, Mrs. Ila Carson Skidmore, Mrs. Betty Bloor Hist, Mrs. Beulah White Jones, Mrs. Glenda McCoy Dunlope, Mrs. Hazel Wood Neiser, Miss Margaret Birch and Mrs. Lillian Weibel Ridge.

Hargraves, Mrs. Bernadette Owen and Miss Ann Johnston comprised the planning committee and Maola and Mrs. Gertrude Mason Lowe, the program committee.

The host and hostess committee was comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Means, Mr. and Mrs. John McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Heasley, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. John Renner, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Manford Banfield and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Farnsworth.

The refreshment committee consisted of Mrs. Mary North, Mrs. Virginia Heddleston, Mrs. Ruby McComas, Mrs. Ruth Kincaid, Mrs. Naomi Hendrickson, Mrs. Roberta Lane, Mrs. Mary Hodge and Mrs. Mabel Wolf.

Castro

Castro charged, that Escalante "abused the confidence entrusted in him and tried to create an apparatus to pursue personal ends."

Castro again denounced the so-called personality cult. He charged that Escalante had much to do with fostering a spirit of sectarianism which, Castro said, has led many to believe that the only ones who can be given important posts are "the old and militant revolutionaries."

"The boastfulness of the old Communist militants and the belief that those revolutionaries who don't belong to them are not able to occupy important posts is an absurd, negative, stupid policy," Castro shouted.

"They thought they had won the revolution in a raffle."

"We have forgotten that the number of Communists previously in the country was very small," he said. "Now that all the people embrace Marxism-Leninism, how absurd this sectarianism of the old Communist militants is. We must have more unity of all, the old and the new."

Castro warned that his remarks should not be interpreted as a retreat from his regime's goal of communizing Cuba.

IQ What's your child's physical IQ?

Chances are it doesn't measure up. The fact is that almost half of our youngsters today lack the strength and agility to pass a simple physical achievement test.

The remedy? More emphasis on vigorous physical activity. At least 15 minutes of every daily physical education period devoted to vigorous body-building exercise.

What to do? At your next PTA meeting, urge the adoption of a program that will give all youngsters a chance to develop their bodies.

It could be the program of The President's Council on Youth Fitness—or a similar one—easy to administer at little cost to your school. Act!

The If Isn't As Big As It Was

Hard as it is to get used to the idea that President DeGaulle of France doesn't believe a political leader can get anywhere by back-pedaling, the man may be clinching his case with a shattering demonstration of military loyalty.

Frenchmen agreed that the break-or-make element in Algerian independence would be the loyalty of the French army.

They agreed that if the army showed sympathy for officers who walked out on it to go over to the irreconcilables in Algeria —the Secret Army Organization—President DeGaulle and his hope of Algerian settlement would be finished.

They also agreed, though, that if the irreconcilables could pick up no new strength from the regular French army they would be starting the beginning of their end as a force to be reckoned with. They would be like southerners who never became reconciled to their side's defeat in the Civil War but could not carry on the war by themselves.

It is too soon to be sure, but the French army has shown no evidence of turning on President DeGaulle. On the other hand, it has done what skeptics doubted it would do in a showdown. It has used its power against Algerian irreconcilables who would rather kill everybody and die themselves than to stand by while Algeria separates itself from the French republic.

There are those who insist whenever circumstances cause irreconcilables to back down that this is a mortal blow to human freedom. To them it is an unforgivable political sin for any nation to withdraw from Africa. The thought of turning Algeria over to its dominant Moslem population is a setback to Christian civilization, as they interpret Christian civilization.

It's hard to get used to the idea of a political leader who comes to grips with such a problem as if he never had heard of the claimed advantages of ducking the issue. If DeGaullism catches on, it might make politics the noblest of professions, next to the ministry.

Trial Week For 'Liberators'

This week the 1,200 prisoners taken after last April's abortive invasion of Cuba go on trial. Five prisoners were executed last August. Nine others already have been tried and sentenced to 30-year prison terms.

It is not known how many of the original 1,200 have survived their imprisonment, and it is only known vaguely how they are treated. Sketchy reports indicate they may have been getting the treatment that political prisoners of communist dictatorships can expect—starvation, abuse and torture calculated to break them in body and soul before they are paraded publicly for their final disposal as enemies of the all-important state.

Fidel Castro's regime has shown special fondness for the firing squad as the quickest, surest way to dispose of political opposition. The toll of executions under his rule has reached into the hundreds.

It is no surprise to Cubans that some of the prisoners were members of Castro's 26th of July movement. Their fate as would-be liberators of Cuba will be no better than the fate of thousands of would-be liberators who reacted to their disenchantment by turning against the brutal excesses of their leaders after established governments had been overthrown.

Whatever happens to the Cuban prisoners will revive interest and curiosity in the efforts of a committee including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Walter P. Reuther, president of United Auto Workers, to exchange them for 500 tractors demanded by Castro for their release.

Negotiations came to a decisive stage last July when 10 prisoners were permitted to come to the United States. No agreement could be reached. Eight of the prisoners returned to Cuba; two remained in this country.

All funds collected were returned to the donors. The deal fell through.

It was the first sharp reminder to the United States that no deals are possible with absolutists, whether they are in the Kremin or an outpost in Havana.

Take It From Garst

Remember Roswell Garst of Coon Rapids, Iowa, the big-scale farmer who went to Russia to tell Premier Khrushchev about agriculture—the proprietor of the Garst farm visited by Khrushchev in 1959 when he visited this country?

United States News & World Report, wondering about Russia's admitted trouble with agriculture, asked Mr. Garst what he thought. His answers are so matter-of-fact and credible they should interest everybody with a personal theory about the connection between communism and hunger.

Mr. Garst thinks the principal thing wrong with Russian agriculture is shortage of capital investment. He points out that in the United States it takes $30,000 in capital to make one job in agriculture as against only $15,000 to make a job in U.S. industry. Russia hasn't approached this figure, though it has been trying to improve its agricultural investment since 1955.

The next most important thing wrong with Russian agriculture is geography—the obvious fact its location causes a short growing season and a scarcity of rainfall. Moscow is in the latitude of the northern half of Hudson Bay and southern Russia in the latitude of Minneapolis. It has more in common with Canada than the United States.

Collectivized farms, says farmer Garst, are not at fault. In the United States, the tendency is to combine farms, too, in order to make better use of machinery.

Communism itself is not at fault either, in his opinion, though it does not provide as strong incentives as private enterprise.

Is Russia in danger of starving? Farmer Garst says no, that the problem is to give Russians more to eat, not merely enough to eat. They are dissatisfied with the drabness of their diet. They want some butter to go with the guns their government insists on having at the expense of everything else.

They lack these things because their government lacked capital for both guns and butter so chose guns. Premier Khrushchev, believes farmer Garst, is now trying to shift some of the emphasis to butter.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"Gromyko And Rusk Dine Again But Make No Progress" is a daily headline. Maybe it's the lack of bicarb. Anyhow we fancy this dinner table routine:

Rusk: I'm not hungry, are you?

Gromyko: I'm not yet ready to make a definite statement on that.

Rusk: Shall we start with soup?

Gromyko: That is a matter for consultations.

Rusk: I am prepared to go half way with you on both soup and consomme questions.

Gromyko: What is half way on soup: Spell it out. It sounds like a typical imperialistic attempt to confuse the soup, consomme and borsch issue.

Rusk: For the purpose of progress do you agree to skip soup and try to agree on a fish course. Are you prepared to pass the fish?

Gromyko: Your use of the word "pass" invites two meanings, one to hand the plate, the other to avoid fish completely. You are befogging the issue.

Rusk: In order to encourage progress toward world peace at Geneva I now propose to let soup and fish be dropped and taken up later at a higher level conference.

Gromyko: My government will not be rushed into meat and potatoes by such artful tactics.

Rusk: Surely it is time to finalize the purpose of this dinner and eat.

Gromyko: The meat and potato matter involves green peas, succotash and pickle beets. What is the American position on pickled beets?

Rusk: The American policy on vegetables has been favorable except for cucumbers. In interest of peace we are willing to make compromises here. Will you agree to abandon radishes?

Gromyko: Nyet.

Rusk: Let's avoid further argument and settle for a sandwich.

Gromyko: Okay, but, remember, without testings or inspections!!

DOG LICENSES FEES are being boosted in many communities, with New York just raising them to $5 per pooch. S.P.C.A. is behind this, in all good will, but it will make tough going for Fido. When, to the many other tax burdens, you boost the cost of keeping a dog, you put countless pups in doghouse. "We can't afford to keep Rusty" becomes common verdict. Man will find it hard to look at his pooch and not let economic consideration supplant love and support for man's most devoted friend.

Why Is Anti-Crime Bill Held Up?

By Victor Riesel

Men with courage have had it shot out of them before they could get to a rendezvous with an FBI agent, or with a U.S. attorney operating as advance man for a federal grand jury probe, or with any of thousands of operatives of national agencies — ranging from the FBI and Internal Revenue Service to the Health Education and Welfare Department — now slowly but surely and methodically peeling the protective covering off the crime combines.

Cars have been dynamited. A labor leader has been gunned to death. Raucous, lewd-laden terror spews in over the phone. Yet there is no federal law which enables the sovereign United States government to protect the indignant ones willing to chance all this and work for decency against the mob's "second government."

Yet this land could have just such an "Obstruction of Justice Law" within a few hours. Attorney General Bob Kennedy asked for t. The Senate passed it long ago.

Now it is growing feathers in a pigeon hole of the full House Judiciary Committee. The group's chairman, Rep. Emanuel Celler, is for it.

THE NEW YORKER, who well knows the searing impact of the syndicates' second government, thought its passage by his committee would be a matter of form. When he arrived at a committee session on Tuesday, March 13, he learned that there had been an earlier meeting of some 12 members.

They were opposed to the proposed law. He is keeping it from a vote until he can crack the opposition. But why this opposition?

The bill would simply nail those who scare off, or kill off, or beat off prospective witnesses willing to impart what the gendarmerie refer to with Scotland Yard type understatement as "information."

Those who would be protected are those not yet sworn in as witnesses. They are the men with guts enough to fight for de-crimed cities. Sometimes they are the men whose "information" is needed months before any formal witnesses are called.

A formal or subpeonaed witness can be protected. But what of the men with pride in their communities and hate in their hearts for the vultures. The crusaders need that protection. And there are many of them.

HOW MANY? Judge this from the 3,000 important criminal cases which have been handled by the FBI alone since last September. It was then that a series of new anti-racket laws—some written during the last administration, some during the current presidency—became effective.

Take it as fact that this figure will roll up to 10,000 cases shortly. They involve narcotics, gambling, vice, murder, subversion and terror and extortion on the labor-management front.

But the bureau is only one of more than a score of agencies now pooling their information regularly. These federal groups, include not only the familiar probers, but Pentagon intelligence, too.

One thug, for example, was discovered by the Army to have had a wartime black market record. Another was found by the Pure Food and Drug people to have been adulterating foods. Others have violated safety regulations in a mine—thus coming under the inspectors of the Bureau of Mines. All this takes cooperation.

The bigger the case, the tougher the hood, the more brutal the terror. Recently Supreme Court Justice Douglas denied an appeal from one Paul John Carbo (Frankie, to the boys) for the lifting of a $100,000 bail.

IN HIS DECISION, the justice noted that 57-year-old Carbo, sentenced to 25 years, was appealing for a new trial from his conviction for violating the federal anti-racketeering law. Said the justice, "The safety of witnesses, should a new trial be ordered, has relevancy to the bail issue." He said that he noted in the records before him that the key witness against the mobster was one Leonard Blakely, alias Jackie Leonard—and that the latter had received more than 200 telephone threats.

Leonard also has been beaten brutally. He is in limbo until the prisoner's bid for a new trial is denied or granted. There is no federal law to protect him. The proposed bill would make it a federal crime to impede and obstruct lawful inquiry either by threats or force or—by corruption. Punishment would hardly fit this crime, but at least it is a start.

The bill now calls for a five-year sentence and a $5,000 penalty for those convicted of tampering with or terrorizing those who would work with our government against the second government.

Why then is the bill being held up in committee?

Letters To The Editor

Having just returned from Columbus as a delegate to the state legislative board for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in this area, I feel committed to say a few words in regards to the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal.

Until I made this trip to Columbus, I accepted the views I had read about this proposed canal as I had on many other controversial issues without giving the matter much thought, other than I thought it would be a progressive step forward.

However, I now believe I have come home from Columbus a much wiser taxpayer and voter here in the state of Ohio.

As I stated in a previous line, I said I thought it would be a progressive step forward, but the truth was I didn't know the facts. I didn't know it would cost the taxpayers of Ohio around four billion dollars to build this canal for which they will get no benefit from whatsoever. The only ones who stand to benefit from this canal would be the steel and industrial interests in the Youngstown area. That is the reason they are the ones who are pushing this issue so vigorously.

Another point I would like to stress is, presume they were successful in having this bill passed and the canal was built from Lake Erie to the Ohio River, even though they have adequate highways and railroads through this entire area. There would be thousands of men who work in the transportation industries here in the state of Ohio who would lose their jobs and they would still be compelled to help pay for the very thing through taxes that put them out of a job.

I believe this matter concerns every taxpayer and voter in the state of Ohio and I for one will make every effort to find out how our state senators and representatives stand on this proposal. And should I find one who is in favor of costing the taxpayers of Ohio four billion dollars for a project that will be of no benefit to them I for one will go all out to defeat him in the coming primary and the general election.

And I'm hoping that I have shed some light on this issue to the readers of this newspaper and that they will think about it, talk about it to their friends and neighbors and ask the one big question:

How will we the taxpayers of the state of Ohio benefit by this proposed canal? I think you will find the same answer I did—absolutely none.

A Job For Bobby

Students, Intellectuals Need Attention

Attorney General Kennedy has found plenty of time to spend on crusades abroad, but a new opportunity is opening up for him inside the United States. A hint of it came in a recent speech in which he stressed the importance of getting the story of "the democratic way of life" across to students and to the "intellectual group" in this country, just as he endeavored to do on his trip around the world a few weeks ago.

David Lawrence

A tape recording of the impromptu comments made in a question and answer period following a speech by Mr. Kennedy before the advertising council of America has just become available. He said:

"I think that this has been an area (university students) we've largely ignored in the past—and the intellectual group. I don't think we've made the effort that we should have made and I don't think we've concentrated on the fundamentals about the United States and our democratic way of life, whether it be in this country or in other areas."

Unfortunately, some of the fragmentary quotations from his comments—as reported in the press and picked up by former Vice President Nixon, among others—gave the impression that Mr. Kennedy was minimizing the tactics of the Communists rather than the size of their following inside this country.

What he was trying to emphasize was the steady diminution of membership in the Communist party in America. When he was asked how he evaluated the so-called Communist conspiracy in the United States, he replied:

"Well, I would say that I don't think they have any power in the United States. I think that it always poses somewhat of a problem when you have even a small group active within a country who take orders and instructions and are financed by a foreign power, as the Communist party in the United States is at the present time.

"They have no following. They have been thoroughly discredited throughout the United States, largely through the work of the federal bureau of investigation and to some extent through congressional committees and the work of newspapers. So they have really no following."

The attorney general probably meant that they have no following outside the party membership, because he then added:

"The great problems and difficulties, in my judgment, are external and the effort that has to be made in other countries. It doesn't lie with the Communist party here in the United States, with the exception that I mentioned: The fact that you have 8,000 or 10,000 people in the United States who take their orders and instructions from the Soviet Union.

"I think that always poses a danger but I think that's being dealt with by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and I think that what is almost hysteria about the activities of Communists within the United States is misplaced apprehension."

The attorney general, who first spoke out on March 6, now has supplemented his remarks in a press conference held at Los Angeles on March 24.

He expressed there his belief that the greatest danger is not from the Communist party in America but from espionage by agents of Communist-bloc countries who, of course, operate under instructions from Moscow.

MANY PERSONS familiar with the Communist strategy inside America wish that the attorney general had explained more fully on both occasions why the Communists have dropped from 500,000 members before World War II to about 10,000 today. For this has been brought about largely by pitiless publicity and by the exposures made by the House Committee on Un - American Activities and by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

What the committees bring out into the open can be printed in the press without fear of libel suits that might otherwise be brought by individuals named in the hearings.

The Communists know this, and that's why they are driving so hard to abolish these committees. Unfortunately, too many "intellectuals" in our universities have misguidedly signed petitions to try to hamper the efforts of these committees of Congress.

This movement is growing inside our colleges, and the happenings at the San Francisco hearings have been distorted in an attempt to discredit the work of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

If the attorney general could find the time to visit some American universities and talk earnestly to faculty members as well as students about Communist methods, he would be doing a yeoman service in the fight against Communist infiltration.

IT WOULD BE helpful if he only quoted repeatedly this well-informed comment by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI:

"It is vitally important to set the record straight on the extent to which the Communists were responsible for the disgraceful and riotous conditions which prevailed during the hearings in San Francisco of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

It is vitally important that not only the students involved in that incident, but also students throughout the nation whom Communists hope to exploit in similar situations, recognized the Communist tactics which resulted in what experienced West Coast observers familiar with Communist strategy and tactics have termed the most successful Communist coup to occur in the San Francisco area in 25 years."

It is clear that even 10,000 members, many of them working with Soviet agents, could do considerable damage to America. It took only one man—Klaus Fuchs, a seemingly harmless research scientist—to steal the secrets of our atomic bomb in a laboratory in New Mexico and give them to the Soviet Union. The menace of Communist activity inside the United States can hardly be minimized.

The If Isn't As Big As It Was

Hard as it is to get used to the idea that President DeGaulle of France doesn't believe a political leader can get anywhere by back-pedaling, the man may be clinching his case with a shattering demonstration of military loyalty.

Frenchmen agreed that the break-or-make element in Algerian independence would be the loyalty of the French army.

They agreed that if the army showed sympathy for officers who walked out on it to go over to the irreconcilables in Algeria —the Secret Army Organization—President DeGaulle and his hope of Algerian settlement would be finished.

They also agreed, though, that if the irreconcilables could pick up no new strength from the regular French army they would be starting the beginning of their end as a force to be reckoned with. They would be like southerners who never became reconciled to their side's defeat in the Civil War but could not carry on the war by themselves.

It is too soon to be sure, but the French army has shown no evidence of turning on President DeGaulle. On the other hand, it has done what skeptics doubted it would do in a showdown. It has used its power against Algerian irreconcilables who would rather kill everybody and die themselves than to stand by while Algeria separates itself from the French republic.

There are those who insist whenever circumstances cause irreconcilables to back down that this is a mortal blow to human freedom. To them it is an unforgivable political sin for any nation to withdraw from Africa. The thought of turning Algeria over to its dominant Moslem population is a setback to Christian civilization, as they interpret Christian civilization.

It's hard to get used to the idea of a political leader who comes to grips with such a problem as if he never had heard of the claimed advantages of ducking the issue. If DeGaullism catches on, it might make politics the noblest of professions, next to the ministry.

Trial Week For 'Liberators'

This week the 1,200 prisoners taken after last April's abortive invasion of Cuba go on trial. Five prisoners were executed last August. Nine others already have been tried and sentenced to 30-year prison terms.

It is not known how many of the original 1,200 have survived their imprisonment, and it is only known vaguely how they are treated. Sketchy reports indicate they may have been getting the treatment that political prisoners of communist dictatorships can expect—starvation, abuse and torture calculated to break them in body and soul before they are paraded publicly for their final disposal as enemies of the all-important state.

Fidel Castro's regime has shown special fondness for the firing squad as the quickest, surest way to dispose of political opposition. The toll of executions under his rule has reached into the hundreds.

It is no surprise to Cubans that some of the prisoners were members of Castro's 26th of July movement. Their fate as would-be liberators of Cuba will be no better than the fate of thousands of would-be liberators who reacted to their disenchantment by turning against the brutal excesses of their leaders after established governments had been overthrown.

Whatever happens to the Cuban prisoners will revive interest and curiosity in the efforts of a committee including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Walter P. Reuther, president of United Auto Workers, to exchange them for 500 tractors demanded by Castro for their release.

Negotiations came to a decisive stage last July when 10 prisoners were permitted to come to the United States. No agreement could be reached. Eight of the prisoners returned to Cuba; two remained in this country.

All funds collected were returned to the donors. The deal fell through.

It was the first sharp reminder to the United States that no deals are possible with absolutists, whether they are in the Kremin or an outpost in Havana.

Take It From Garst

Remember Roswell Garst of Coon Rapids, Iowa, the big-scale farmer who went to Russia to tell Premier Khrushchev about agriculture—the proprietor of the Garst farm visited by Khrushchev in 1959 when he visited this country?

United States News & World Report, wondering about Russia's admitted trouble with agriculture, asked Mr. Garst what he thought. His answers are so matter-of-fact and credible they should interest everybody with a personal theory about the connection between communism and hunger.

Mr. Garst thinks the principal thing wrong with Russian agriculture is shortage of capital investment. He points out that in the United States it takes $30,000 in capital to make one job in agriculture as against only $15,000 to make a job in U.S. industry. Russia hasn't approached this figure, though it has been trying to improve its agricultural investment since 1955.

The next most important thing wrong with Russian agriculture is geography—the obvious fact its location causes a short growing season and a scarcity of rainfall. Moscow is in the latitude of the northern half of Hudson Bay and southern Russia in the latitude of Minneapolis. It has more in common with Canada than the United States.

Collectivized farms, says farmer Garst, are not at fault. In the United States, the tendency is to combine farms, too, in order to make better use of machinery.

Communism itself is not at fault either, in his opinion, though it does not provide as strong incentives as private enterprise.

Is Russia in danger of starving? Farmer Garst says no, that the problem is to give Russians more to eat, not merely enough to eat. They are dissatisfied with the drabness of their diet. They want some butter to go with the guns their government insists on having at the expense of everything else.

They lack these things because their government lacked capital for both guns and butter so chose guns. Premier Khrushchev, believes farmer Garst, is now trying to shift some of the emphasis to butter.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"Gromyko And Rusk Dine Again But Make No Progress" is a daily headline. Maybe it's the lack of bicarb. Anyhow we fancy this dinner table routine:

Rusk: I'm not hungry, are you?

Gromyko: I'm not yet ready to make a definite statement on that.

Rusk: Shall we start with soup?

Gromyko: That is a matter for consultations.

Rusk: I am prepared to go half way with you on both soup and consomme questions.

Gromyko: What is half way on soup: Spell it out. It sounds like a typical imperialistic attempt to confuse the soup, consomme and borsch issue.

Rusk: For the purpose of progress do you agree to skip soup and try to agree on a fish course. Are you prepared to pass the fish?

Gromyko: Your use of the word "pass" invites two meanings, one to hand the plate, the other to avoid fish completely. You are befogging the issue.

Rusk: In order to encourage progress toward world peace at Geneva I now propose to let soup and fish be dropped and taken up later at a higher level conference.

Gromyko: My government will not be rushed into meat and potatoes by such artful tactics.

Rusk: Surely it is time to finalize the purpose of this dinner and eat.

Gromyko: The meat and potato matter involves green peas, succotash and pickle beets. What is the American position on pickled beets?

Rusk: The American policy on vegetables has been favorable except for cucumbers. In interest of peace we are willing to make compromises here. Will you agree to abandon radishes?

Gromyko: Nyet.

Rusk: Let's avoid further argument and settle for a sandwich.

Gromyko: Okay, but, remember, without testings or inspections!!

"They have no following. They have been thoroughly discredited throughout the United States, largely through the work of the federal bureau of investigation and to some extent through congressional committees and the work of newspapers. So they have really no following."

The attorney general probably meant that they have no following outside the party membership, because he then added:

"The great problems and difficulties, in my judgment, are external and the effort that has to be made in other countries. It doesn't lie with the Communist party here in the United States, with the exception that I mentioned: The fact that you have 8,000 or 10,000 people in the United States who take their orders and instructions from the Soviet Union.

"I think that always poses a danger but I think that's being dealt with by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and I think that what is almost hysteria about the activities of Communists within the United States is misplaced apprehension."

The attorney general, who first spoke out on March 6, now has supplemented his remarks in a press conference held at Los Angeles on March 24.

He expressed there his belief that the greatest danger is not from the Communist party in America but from espionage by agents of Communist-bloc countries who, of course, operate under instructions from Moscow.

MANY PERSONS familiar with the Communist strategy inside America wish that the attorney general had explained more fully on both occasions why the Communists have dropped from 500,000 members before World War II to about 10,000 today. For this has been brought about largely by pitiless publicity and by the exposures made by the House Committee on Un - American Activities and by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

What the committees bring out into the open can be printed in the press without fear of libel suits that might otherwise be brought by individuals named in the hearings.

The Communists know this, and that's why they are driving so hard to abolish these committees. Unfortunately, too many "intellectuals" in our universities have misguidedly signed petitions to try to hamper the efforts of these committees of Congress.

This movement is growing inside our colleges, and the happenings at the San Francisco hearings have been distorted in an attempt to discredit the work of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

If the attorney general could find the time to visit some American universities and talk earnestly to faculty members as well as students about Communist methods, he would be doing a yeoman service in the fight against Communist infiltration.

IT WOULD BE helpful if he only quoted repeatedly this well-informed comment by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI:

"It is vitally important to set the record straight on the extent to which the Communists were responsible for the disgraceful and riotous conditions which prevailed during the hearings in San Francisco of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

It is vitally important that not only the students involved in that incident, but also students throughout the nation whom Communists hope to exploit in similar situations, recognized the Communist tactics which resulted in what experienced West Coast observers familiar with Communist strategy and tactics have termed the most successful Communist coup to occur in the San Francisco area in 25 years."

It is clear that even 10,000 members, many of them working with Soviet agents, could do considerable damage to America. It took only one man—Klaus Fuchs, a seemingly harmless research scientist—to steal the secrets of our atomic bomb in a laboratory in New Mexico and give them to the Soviet Union. The menace of Communist activity inside the United States can hardly be minimized.

Council Cuts Estimates Of Lisbon Funds

LISBON — Council approved an appropriation ordinance for $273,719 for 1962 operations — $11,883 less than 1961 — at a meeting Monday night. The appropriation last year was $285,602.

Councilman Robert Kelm reported the finance committee studied the appropriation measure last week and trimmed the general fund to "rock bottom" to meet reduced revenue.

Ray Hempstead, clerk - treasurer, said after this month's bills totaling $6,340 have been paid, there will be only $1,114 in the general fund.

Council will meet Monday night at 7:30 with representatives of village organizations to emphasize the need for passage of a proposed 3-mill operating levy on the May 8 primary ballot.

Mayor Dean Stockman said the meeting will be a public session and anyone interested may attend.

Mayor Stockman also reported a part needed to repair the fire siren at the County Jail is to be delivered this week. A wrong part had been sent and was returned. A fireman has been assigned to stand by at the Village Hall from midnight at 8 a. m. to answer alarms and sound the siren at the Village Hall if needed.

Council will meet April 9.

Boy, 3, Unhurt; Man Quizzed In New York Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A 3-year-old boy was found apparently unharmed today in a room at the Sloane House, a YMCA residence, a few hours after he disappeared from a Greenwich Village cafe with a strange man.

The man, identified as John Michael Fralic, 25, of Huntington, W. Va., was taken into custody by police and held for questioning.

Detectives who found the boy said he was playing on the floor of the room while Fralic slept on a bed.

Police said, Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy, both 30, reported their son, Glen missing. The boy had disappeared with a stranger who told the Murphys he wanted to buy Glen some candy. The Murphys said later that each thought the other knew the man.

Squads of detectives, patrolmen and emergency service squad men scoured the Greenwich Village and Chelsea before they found Glen.

After a short tussle, Fralic was taken into custody. The boy was reunited with his father and taken for an examination.

The hospital reported Glen had not been injured or molested. He was returned to his home.

Police said Fralic apparently was discharged from the Marines in 1959 after four years. He had been a truck driver in West Virginia before coming to New York Monday.

Refractories Institute Plans Tour Of Globe Brick Facility

Operators of refractories plants from across the country will tour the Globe Brick Co. April 5 as part of an annual two-day convention of the Refractories Institute in Pittsburgh.

At least 200 factory operators are expected to make the tour for a first-hand look at the Newell plant's recently completed expansion project.

The visiting manufacturers will arrive by bus from Pittsburgh for a luncheon at 12:30 at the Country Club, and begin a tour of the 70-year-old Globe plant at 1:30 p. m.

Winston A. Porter, president of Globe Brick, will be in charge of the plant tour that will include a visit through a new grinding and manufacturing center.

The following day, the factory operators will meet in Pittsburgh to review the visit to the Globe plant, and company officials will be present to answer questions. There will be a panel discussion on problems in the refractories industry, in addition to a movie, "Refractories — Nucleus of Industry."

The institute convened last year in Youngstown.

Focal point of the visit to the Globe plant will be its new, elaborately - equipped grinding and manufacturing center housed in a four-story steel building. The facility increased the production rate by one-third through better control of grinding and screening processes for producing ground clay.

Work started on the project in the fall of 1960 and was completed recently. The Globe factory is the largest and most modern ladle brick plant in West Virginia. Located on a 25-acre tract south of Newell, it employs about 200 men.

Warren Driver Cited For Empire Accident

A Warren motorist was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol after his car slammed into a block retaining wall at Empire Monday night at 9:45, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Donald Sweeney, 44, was headed north on Route 7 when his car dropped off the right berm. It then swerved left of center and spun sideways, striking the block wall. The car was heavily damaged but Sweeney was not injured.

A car driven by Herman Dahmer, 37, of Elkridge, Md., was forced off Route 7 and into a power pole at 1:15 p. m. yesterday just north of the Toronto city limits, officers said. Moderage damage resulted.

Study Of City Books May End In 2 Weeks

Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate said today he has been advised state examiners may finish work in two weeks on an audit of the city's books that has been under way since July.

The work is in charge of Examiner Robert Lippincott of the State Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, a branch of the state auditor's office.

It was the routine audit which disclosed an alleged fund shortage in the city water department which State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced may total approximately $17,000. The examiners will issue a full report of their findings upon completion of the audit, Applegate explained.

City Not On Route 66 For Buzz And Todd

Buzz and Todd follow "Route 66" to the most unlikely places in pursuit of their mythical travels via television but a report their next stop is East Liverpool apparently is just a rumor.

The rumor that the popular TV pair was heading for the city began sweeping through the younger set Saturday and by Monday it had reached the point where they were to spend the night at a local home. But a city woman who was reported to be the hostess for the visit here said today "it's not so."

Buzz and Todd never enter a community—for filming further chapters of their widespread adventures—without a lot of fanfare and buildup publicity and the producers haven't yet given them a roadmap with East Liverpool on it. The pair's first film was made in the New Martinsville area and they shot more installments last year at Cleveland, Youngstown and Pittsburgh.

The fact that a real Route 66 exists from Chester to New Cumberland may have had something to do with it!

ed final passage of the act by suspending the constitutional rule requiring a bill to be read on three separate days.

Tanner's counsel reiterated today that the income tax law permits classification and rate graduation on a basis other than amount of income. That ties in with the exemption point he won before Judge Black.

Parkersburg attorneys James W. Simonton, Jack L. Miller and Richard F. Pence also emphasized that not only did the House fail to expressly define a "case of urgency," but did not read the federal code at passage of the bill.

A brief by Robertson and Goodwin contended that the legislature has the power to define income, to classify taxpayers, and impose graduated tax rates on the income of each class.

The authority to classify and graduate income represents exemption authority, the brief said. Otherwise, the state couldn't levy taxes according to its need and maintain a uniform and fair burden on its people.

The Tanner brief countered that the Constitution "very plainly and unambiguously states how incomes of individuals and corporations may be taxed . . . The legislature may not pass statutes contrary to constitutional mandate."

"The Constitution says the legislature may exempt incomes below a minimum, to be fixed from time to time, and this cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, mean . . . power to control several kinds of exemptions," it said.

The state took the position that the legislature can classify and graduate taxation by any means not specifically prohibited by the Constitution. They said that was recognized by the courts under a previous state income tax law.

Their brief contended the federal internal revenue code of 1954 only defines what will make up income and does not attempt "to exempt, or to credit or to deduct amounts from income."

They asserted that because the legislature has power to define income, "it would logically follow" that incorporation of the federal code in the 1961 state enactment "is proper and nothing more than a definition of income."

Miller, Simonton and Pence argued, however, that amount represents only one ingredient used in the federal income tax statute, while the "state constitution makes amount the key and only ingredient to the formula."

Robertson and Goodwin described deductions as things used to define income. "They do not exempt from taxation," their brief explained, "but are merely used to determine income for tax purposes."

On the question of urgency, they said the "constitution does not require that urgency be stated upon the Journal, but only that if a case of urgency is deemed to exist, the three-reading rule may be dispensed with on a four-fifths vote."

"The Journal clearly shows that when this requirement is met . . . it is enough that the bill is duly enacted, and the Journal shows that the presiding officer states that the proper procedure has been followed," they added.

The House vote to suspend the constitutional rule, and pass the tax law finally on the second instead of third day, was 100-0.

Mid-Winter Flower Shows Aren't Easy

BOSTON (AP) — Did you ever wonder how exhibits at mid-winter flower shows are so beautiful?

Well, it isn't an easy accomplishment, according to Boston Flower Show directors. Sometimes it takes months to create exhibits.

For example, a dogwood tree gets its first priming in November for the March show.

During the winter it is moved a half dozen times from one greenhouse to another where the heat gradually increases. It is sprayed with water four or five times a day to provide constant humidity.

Three or four days before the show opens it is moved into a refrigerated truck, where the temperature is kept at about 40 degrees.

Practically all other shrubs and some flowers are subjected to the same treatment to bring them to full bloom at showtime.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Diet, Exercise Role Studied In Bust Form

There is no part of the feminine figure which appears to cause women more concern than the bosom. Human nature being what it is, we are inclined to be less than happy with our natural endowments. One of Eve's daughters writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"I would like some special exercises for reducing the bust. I did weigh 210 and now weigh 158 pounds for my 5 feet 6 of height. My measurements are bust 38-D cup, waist 30, hips 39. My legs are slim. I still need to lose about 20 pounds, but the weight doesn't seem to want to come off.

"I wear a size 18 dress which fits well, but I'd like to wear size 14. Please help me if you can, particularly with exercises to reduce the bust and exercises for general toning."

CONGRATULATIONS on your weight loss. The tissues of the breast have an affinity for fat, and overdevelopment of the fatty portion of the bus is almost always due to excess weight.

General reducing will help to reduce the fat deposited in this area, but bear in mind that the normal size of the bust depends primarily on glandular functioning. In other words, you can, by bringing your weight to healthy normal, reduce the fat that infiltrated this measurement, but you cannot alter nature's design for your bosom.

Apparently you inherited from the limbs of the family tree, the tendency to have slender legs, and along with your glandular system, the tendency to have a full bosom. Change your attitude and be happy.

Since the breasts are composed of glands, not muscles, exercises are not an effective means of reducing this measurement. With exercise you may be able to change the position.

The role of exercise in bust improvement is to tone and tighten the powerful pectoral muscles which support the bust. The muscles of the chest, shoulders and arms are correlated in action and using the arms in resistance exercises can help restore tone to the pectorals.

Regarding measurements: for size 18, average measurements are bust 39, waist 30½, slender hips 40; regular hips 42. Average weight for size 18 is 160 pounds.

Your ideal weight is between 135 and 140 pounds, at which weight you will be able to wear size 16 beautifully.

—:—

TO RESUME reducing, change the character of your diet. Step up the protein and lessen the sugars and starches. Build each meal around a complete protein, and use only a small amount of salt.

If you keep your total calories below your daily requirements, you will gradually get down to your best weight.

Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Mid-Winter Flower Shows Aren't Easy

BOSTON (AP) — Did you ever wonder how exhibits at mid-winter flower shows are so beautiful?

Well, it isn't an easy accomplishment, according to Boston Flower Show directors. Sometimes it takes months to create exhibits.

For example, a dogwood tree gets its first priming in November for the March show.

During the winter it is moved a half dozen times from one greenhouse to another where the heat gradually increases. It is sprayed with water four or five times a day to provide constant humidity.

Three or four days before the show opens it is moved into a refrigerated truck, where the temperature is kept at about 40 degrees.

Practically all other shrubs and some flowers are subjected to the same treatment to bring them to full bloom at showtime.

Keep In Trim

Diet, Exercise Role Studied In Bust Form

There is no part of the feminine figure which appears to cause women more concern than the bosom. Human nature being what it is, we are inclined to be less than happy with our natural endowments. One of Eve's daughters writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"I would like some special exercises for reducing the bust. I did weigh 210 and now weigh 158 pounds for my 5 feet 6 of height. My measurements are bust 38-D cup, waist 30, hips 39. My legs are slim. I still need to lose about 20 pounds, but the weight doesn't seem to want to come off.

"I wear a size 18 dress which fits well, but I'd like to wear size 14. Please help me if you can, particularly with exercises to reduce the bust and exercises for general toning."

CONGRATULATIONS on your weight loss. The tissues of the breast have an affinity for fat, and overdevelopment of the fatty portion of the bus is almost always due to excess weight.

General reducing will help to reduce the fat deposited in this area, but bear in mind that the normal size of the bust depends primarily on glandular functioning. In other words, you can, by bringing your weight to healthy normal, reduce the fat that infiltrated this measurement, but you cannot alter nature's design for your bosom.

Apparently you inherited from the limbs of the family tree, the tendency to have slender legs, and along with your glandular system, the tendency to have a full bosom. Change your attitude and be happy.

Since the breasts are composed of glands, not muscles, exercises are not an effective means of reducing this measurement. With exercise you may be able to change the position.

The role of exercise in bust improvement is to tone and tighten the powerful pectoral muscles which support the bust. The muscles of the chest, shoulders and arms are correlated in action and using the arms in resistance exercises can help restore tone to the pectorals.

Regarding measurements: for size 18, average measurements are bust 39, waist 30½, slender hips 40; regular hips 42. Average weight for size 18 is 160 pounds.

Your ideal weight is between 135 and 140 pounds, at which weight you will be able to wear size 16 beautifully.

—:—

TO RESUME reducing, change the character of your diet. Step up the protein and lessen the sugars and starches. Build each meal around a complete protein, and use only a small amount of salt.

If you keep your total calories below your daily requirements, you will gradually get down to your best weight.

Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Councilman Lewis again proposed a $2 annual license fee for drivers to provide revenue for the city instead of Mayor Fitch's recommendation for installation of parking meters.

Mayor Fitch said the Miller Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh and the Marktime Co. of Cleveland are to submit bids for installation of meters. The Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh has already surveyed the village and filed an offer.

Mayor Fitch said a public meeting on the proposal will be called after the offers are in.

Councilman Lewis, who proposed the license fee earlier this month, said residents he talked to favor the plan over a meter system. Mayor Fitch said those he discussed it with favored the meters.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county Democratic chairman and a member of Rep. Hays' staff, represented the congressman.

In addition to a sprinkling of East End civic leaders and businessmen, the crowd included Council President Charles N. Edwards, Councilmen Frank Duffy and Floyd Murray, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, James V. Flasco, chairman of the city Democratic Central Committee, Donald Hancock, chairman of the city Men's Democratic Club, and Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate.

The new facility could be located in a suitable building leased from a private individual, Rahter said. Or a private individual could contract with the General Services Administration, the government's "housekeeping agency," to erect a building for long - term lease, he added.

If the government obtains an option on suitable ground, it can assign the option to a builder who would erect a structure, Rahter explained.

The Station A office would require 2,000 square feet of floor space, Rahter said. If it's erected on a corner lot, the property would have to be approximately 48-x-148 feet, he said. If the lot is not on a corner, it would have to be a little larger, about 58-x-148, to form "an optimum site," Rahter said.

Questioned about the possible site of the new building, Rahter said he has not seen the inspectors' reports that would determine the location. However, he said he would guess it probably would be located on Pennsylvania Ave. and not more than a quarter to a third of a mile east of Mulberry St.

He said Mulberry St. might be ruled out as a site because of the higher price of lots in the East End business district. However, some members of the audience told him they feel property could be acquired on Mulberry St. for reasonable prices.

When the government has an option of a suitable tract of ground, it can post notices in three public locations in the city calling for offers on construction of a building, Rahter said. After the bids are opened, the real estate department analyzes them and if it finds a "reasonable" offer, authority is given to go ahead with the work, he said.

Approval is required from Washington before an advertisement can be issued for bids, Rahter said. That procedure generally requires about two months, he said.

When the department options ground as possible sites, it pays $1 for an option to buy any time in a 180-day period, Rahter said. Photos and descriptions of the sites go to a regional review committee, which selects the tract that will be used for the Post Office, he said.

Rahter revealed that the three postal officials looked over possible sites in East End yesterday. He said he hopes to go back to Cincinnati tonight after making a series of other visits today in Toronto, Steubenville, Flushing and several other communities as far west as Columbus.

Rahter said the department would be willing to lease space in a building occupied in part by another business.

"We're interested primarily in getting adequate, efficient quarters at the best price," he said.

He said the government probably would sign a 10-year lease for a new Station A facility.

In recent years, the federal government has built few post offices, preferring to lease them from private owners, Rahter said. In that way the government can obtain more buildings for the available money and the structures remain on the local tax duplicates because they are privately-owned, he said.

Commenting afterwards, Rahter lauded the attitude which prevailed at the meeting, declaring that "This meeting showed more co-operation and more true desire for a new postal facility than any meeting I have yet attended."

"If we could have people everywhere as interested and willing to work together, we could save a lot of time and accomplish a lot more.

"We will bend every effort to get a new facility for East End," Rahter said. "These people really want a post office and they are willing to take one that works from both our standpoint and that of the people."

Civic Group Sets Election

The South Beaver County Civic Association has reported a slate of candidates for its election Thursday at a meeting at 8 p. m. at the Shippingport Community Building.

Assemblymen Charles D. Stone and Beryl Klein will attend and discuss the Shippingport Bridge as well as strip mining and other legislative matters and answer questions.

Candidates reported by the nomination committee include William A. Littell, for president; H. J. DeRolf, vice president; Anna McCoy, treasurer; Lois Lutton, secretary, and Charles D. Barker, Lawrence Christy, Joseph Cotter, Carl Lutton, James Miller and James Russell, trustees.

Members in good standing for the year ending this month are eligible to vote.

Membership for the coming year will be sought largely by personal solicitation, according to a decision of the Executive Board.

In past years membership was solicited mainly by mail. This year the organization hopes to transfer the cost of the mail appeal into support for the Beaver County Conference on Community Development.

A group life insurance plan providing $2,000 coverage for each worker, with the city paying all or part of the premium.

A group health insurance program with premiums paid at least in part by the city. The employes now pay the entire premium, which generally is $15.75 a month for family coverage and $5 for a single worker, Kane said.

A change in the vacation plan to allow three weeks off with pay after 10 years' service. At present, the employes are given two weeks after the second year on the job, but must have 15 years' service to entitle them to three weeks' vacation, Kane said.

A reclassification of jobs by a disinterested outside party. Kane said there are cases at present where employes classified as laborers, for instance, are performing more skilled work.

Local 677's membership is comprised mainly of street and incinerator department workers and miscellaneous employes. The fire and police departments conduct separate wage negotiations with Council.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union in their proposed disarmament plans included provisions reserving outer space for peaceful purposes.

Under Green's declaration the oribiting or stationing in outer space of devices for delivering weapons of mass destruction would be prohibited.

A nation would also be obliged to give advance notice to the United Nations of the launching of space vehicles and missiles.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home gave strong support to the Canadian proposal. He then left for home, but said he would come back any time his presence is needed.

Rusk and Gromyko in their joint statement on their Berlin talks said they had made some progress in clarifying points of agreement as well as points of difference. They added that they agreed to "resume contact in an appropriate way" after reporting to their governments and consulting allies. These discussions are expected to continue through ambassadors in Moscow and Washington.

Rusk and Gromyko did apparently give each other the impression, however, that each believes it is important to continue discussing the dispute in order to keep it from getting out of hand.

American informants said that while neither minister gave ground, the talks were profitable. Gromyko reportedly left Rusk in no doubt that the Soviet government presently prefers to continue the discussion rather than force a new crisis. This could lead to a slow easing of East-West tensions over Berlin.

Other foreign ministers who came here two weeks ago to get the 17-nation disarmament conference organized also are leaving this week. Ambassadors and special disarmament negotiators will carry on. U.S. officials estimate the conference will continue for months or even years.

The conference is expected to concentrate first on attempts at accord on limited arms controls that could pave the way for a summit meeting in May—just before a progress report is due the United Nations on June 1. If there is a meeting attended by President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Berlin also will be a major topic.

Rusk is expected to report to Kennedy that his talks with Gromyko disclosed no basic changes whatever in the Soviet demands for Western withdrawal from Berlin and for surrender of the Berlin access routes to full East German control.

Rusk will also report complete failure to make any progress toward a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests. The Soviets refused to consider an international inspection system, as demanded by the Western powers, to police a test ban.

'Lost' Travelers Go To City's Jail For Intoxication

A Washington County (Pa.) couple en route to Cleveland for a visit with relatives took a wrong turn Monday night at the East Liverpool end of the Chester Bridge and wound up in City Jail —the husband charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and his wife booked on a simple intoxication charge.

Harold Hancher of Claysville R. D. 1, pleading guilty to the drunken driving charge today in Municipal Court, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff said he will send Hancher's operator's permit to the Pennsylvania Bureau of Motor Vehicles and ask that it be suspended.

Hancher's wife, Naomi, forfeited a $32.50 bond on the intoxication charge. The two were arrested at 10:11 last night at St. Clair Ave. and E. 6th St., police said.

Questioned by the judge, Hancher denied drinking in East Liverpool. He said he had "a few drinks" before leaving home and he and his wife nipped at beer and whisky as they drove toward Cleveland. He said they got lost in East Liverpool after taking a wrong turn off Route 30 when leaving the Chester Bridge.

Youths Hurt Avoiding Dog

A 16-year-old St. Clair Ave. youth and his brother were injured slightly and their 1962 convertible damaged Monday when the older youth swerved to avoid a dog on Route 170 north of Calcutta.

Marc David Hoffrichter, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoffrichter, was headed north and rounded a curve when he spotted the dog, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

The youth swerved to one side, then the other to avoid hitting the animal, and the auto struck guardrails, officer said. He was treated for a laceration of the face, and his brother, Eric, 14, was treated for cuts of the face and hands.

The patrol said Russell J. Willison, 25, of Minerva R. D. 2 is in the Minerva jail today following a mishap on Route 30 just east of the Stark County line about 12:10 a. m.

Officers said Willison was headed west, followed by the Minerva police cruiser in pursuit when he approached a railroad crossing occupied by a train. Willison swerved off the road and his car struck a utility pole.

Willison suffered bruises, according to officers, who said a patrol charge will be filed. Minerva police indicated Willison was being pursued for a traffic violation—apparently speeding.

plicants agree to reside at the Village Hall apartment — as did Mellott — but such a condition would not be mandatory. He emphasized an officer should be available to answer telephone calls, police radio and fire alarms.

Applications will be received by the mayor until April 1.

Councilman Lewis again proposed a $2 annual license fee for drivers to provide revenue for the city instead of Mayor Fitch's recommendation for installation of parking meters.

Mayor Fitch said the Miller Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh and the Marktime Co. of Cleveland are to submit bids for installation of meters. The Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh has already surveyed the village and filed an offer.

Mayor Fitch said a public meeting on the proposal will be called after the offers are in.

Councilman Lewis, who proposed the license fee earlier this month, said residents he talked to favor the plan over a meter system. Mayor Fitch said those he discussed it with favored the meters.

Village Solicitor Warren Bettis said he would check the state code to see if such a license fee would be permissible.

In other action, Council granted Mellott additional time to reside at the Village Hall apartment. He plans to move to an apartment at the adjacent Shaff Building, but it was damaged by a fire March 17.

Mayor Fitch said a request had been received for a stop sign at Lincoln and Church St., and Pete Growall, street supervisor, said a sign is available and will be erected.

Growall said no warning signs are available for erection in the West End where Mrs. Gordon Sweeney reported pedestrians such as children are endangered because of a lack of proper sidewalks.

James Needham, deputy policeman, said officers patrolled 1,230 miles in Feb. 26-March 26, investigated three traffic accidents and a breaking and entering, made two arrests and issued 22 warnings.

Paul Temple, representative of the East Ohio Gas Co., said the utility will provide payment for street repairs needed at excavation sites by the firm. He said the gas service will come under the Columbia Gas System in 1963.

100 Hear Toledo Candidate For Post In Senate

An estimated 100 heard an address by John Marshall Briley of Toledo, Republican candidate for U. S. Senator in the May primary, at a public meeting of the East Liverpool Area Men's Republican Club Monday night at Tice's Restaurant.

The former vice president of Owens - Corning Fiberglass Corp., who resigned to seek his party's senatorial nomination, spoke for an hour on a variety of subjects, including state's rights.

A question - and - answer period followed his talk. Briley was introduced by Samuel B. Webber, club president. Webber also introduced candidates for Columbiana County posts in the primary.

Briley greeted the general public earlier in the evening at a reception in the Travelers Hotel. Harold Allison served as chairman for the speaker's appearance at the club's meeting.

School Teachers Get Smoking OK In Board's Vote

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland school teachers no longer have to sneak to the boiler rooms of their schools to smoke.

The Board of Education voted 4-3 Monday night to permit teachers and other employes to smoke in safe areas not used by pupils.

It was an open secret for years that teachers sought sanctuary in the boiler rooms because of the school system's long - standing rule prohibiting smoking in the schools by anyone.

"The matter of smoking may seem insignificant," said Ralph A. McAllister, board member who introduced the motion calling for a change. "But when it is combined with other factors it produces a good deal of dissatisfaction among teachers."

McAllister acknowledged that many teachers did visit the boiler rooms to smoke. "The pupils know this," he said, "and it tends to degrade the teachers in their eyes. We should adopt a more realistic policy."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Youths Need Physical Exercise

As everybody knows, most of our school children, even on farms, get very little physical exercise at home. The average child walks very little. He goes places in a car, he rides to school on a bus. At school the child of the elementary grades may run and play for short periods on the playground when he cares to do so or is supervised in active games. In some schools he may have a game period in the gymnasium or in good weather on the playground. As the school child advances to junior or senior high school he may get on a sports team or have a period for games in the gym. All along, the children who most need exercise usually get least of it.

Dr. Garry Meyers

THE THEORY AND practice of physical education at school has been dominated by the notion, "It must be fun." For a small proportion of school children, this theory seems to be good. For the rank and file, it fails.

For many years I have believed and said in this column that as long as the fun-and-play concept dominates the program of physical education at school it won't prove adequate for the best physical development of most children.

So in the face of the prevailing theory and practice, I propose that physical training at school be considered chiefly as work, and that this work be rigidly required of all pupils and students except those otherwise directed on the advice of the school physician.

Therefore, beginning in the first grade, if not earlier, let there be simple getting-up exercises which any teacher may supervise right in the classroom or on the playground or in the gymnasium.

IN THE CLASSROOM these exercises might easily be conducted for ten or 15 minutes once or more often daily. Go watch a company of recruits in the Army doing setting - up drills or recall such, if you have been in the armed forces, and you will see what I have in mind.

The physical education director, or other specialist, could easily devise these exercises, which any teacher could learn to direct. No equipment would be required. On rainy days, several classrooms of children could be combined for these setting-up exercises indoors.

With a minimum of such exercises required of all children, there could also be added at other times some games and contests. Work on gym equipment, if available, might also supplement this program.

Here and there setting-up exercises are already appearing in colleges and high school.

The foregoing proposals might easily fit into the program recommended by the President's Council on Youth Fitness, a copy of which may be had for 40 cents from the Supt. of Public Documents, Washington 25, D. C.

School Teachers Get Smoking OK In Board's Vote

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland school teachers no longer have to sneak to the boiler rooms of their schools to smoke.

The Board of Education voted 4-3 Monday night to permit teachers and other employes to smoke in safe areas not used by pupils.

It was an open secret for years that teachers sought sanctuary in the boiler rooms because of the school system's long - standing rule prohibiting smoking in the schools by anyone.

"The matter of smoking may seem insignificant," said Ralph A. McAllister, board member who introduced the motion calling for a change. "But when it is combined with other factors it produces a good deal of dissatisfaction among teachers."

McAllister acknowledged that many teachers did visit the boiler rooms to smoke. "The pupils know this," he said, "and it tends to degrade the teachers in their eyes. We should adopt a more realistic policy."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Youths Need Physical Exercise

As everybody knows, most of our school children, even on farms, get very little physical exercise at home. The average child walks very little. He goes places in a car, he rides to school on a bus. At school the child of the elementary grades may run and play for short periods on the playground when he cares to do so or is supervised in active games. In some schools he may have a game period in the gymnasium or in good weather on the playground. As the school child advances to junior or senior high school he may get on a sports team or have a period for games in the gym. All along, the children who most need exercise usually get least of it.

THE THEORY AND practice of physical education at school has been dominated by the notion, "It must be fun." For a small proportion of school children, this theory seems to be good. For the rank and file, it fails.

For many years I have believed and said in this column that as long as the fun-and-play concept dominates the program of physical education at school it won't prove adequate for the best physical development of most children.

So in the face of the prevailing theory and practice, I propose that physical training at school be considered chiefly as work, and that this work be rigidly required of all pupils and students except those otherwise directed on the advice of the school physician.

Therefore, beginning in the first grade, if not earlier, let there be simple getting-up exercises which any teacher may supervise right in the classroom or on the playground or in the gymnasium.

IN THE CLASSROOM these exercises might easily be conducted for ten or 15 minutes once or more often daily. Go watch a company of recruits in the Army doing setting - up drills or recall such, if you have been in the armed forces, and you will see what I have in mind.

The physical education director, or other specialist, could easily devise these exercises, which any teacher could learn to direct. No equipment would be required. On rainy days, several classrooms of children could be combined for these setting-up exercises indoors.

With a minimum of such exercises required of all children, there could also be added at other times some games and contests. Work on gym equipment, if available, might also supplement this program.

Here and there setting-up exercises are already appearing in colleges and high school.

The foregoing proposals might easily fit into the program recommended by the President's Council on Youth Fitness, a copy of which may be had for 40 cents from the Supt. of Public Documents, Washington 25, D. C.

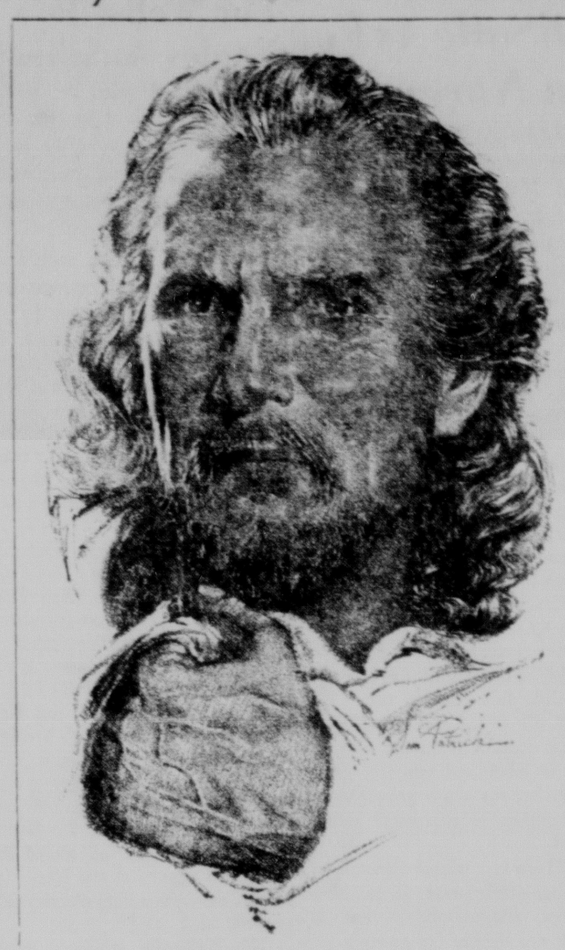
They Walked With Christ



JAMES Son of Zebedee

"And when he had gone a little farther thence, he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the ship mending their nets."

—Mark 1:19

James, like his younger brother John, was a well-to-do fisherman on the Lake of Galilee.

At the Master's call, both left their nets to become "fishers of men."

Jesus called the brothers Boanerges, meaning "Sons of Thunder," apparently because of their dynamic, burning faith.

This impetuous zeal which characterized both brothers is evident in the passage (Luke IX:51-56) which tells of the Samaritans' refusal to receive Jesus because He was enroute to Jerusalem, the capital city of their enemies, the Jews.

"And when his disciples James and John saw this they said, Lord wilt thou that we command fire to come down from heaven, and consume them even as Elias did?"

But Jesus curbed their spirit of retaliation. He told them:

"The Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them."

Instead of creating a public tumult, as well as further resistance to His message, Jesus went to another village.

James, along with John the Beloved, went with Jesus to the garden of Gethsemane on the night of agony before the Crucifixion. He was also a witness to the Transfiguration and, later, to the Ascension.

According to Scripture (Acts XII:1,2), James was arrested on orders from King Herod Agrippa shortly before Passover in the year 44, and was beheaded.

Secular history tells us that the accuser of James, who had brought him before the judges who condemned him was so deeply impressed by the apostle's faith and constancy, even under torture, that the informer was himself converted to Christianity, and suffered the same fate as James.

The characteristic of James that makes him an immortal prototype of the true believer was his steadfast faith in Jesus and His mission.

He had but to meet the Nazarene to recognize and follow Him through all the hardships, persecutions, and condemnation which followed.

Indiana Trucker Hurt In Collision

Joseph Hoover of Ft. Wayne, Ind., was admitted to Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls Monday morning afer his 1962 tractor-trailer rammed the rear of another rig on Route 51, near Darlington, about four miles east of the Ohio - Pennsylvania line.

About $12,000 damage was estimated to his rig, officers of the Beaver County barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said.

Hoover received a fracture of his right leg, laceration of the scalp and abrasions and contusions of the body, police said. The accident occurred about 5:40 a. m.

Officers said he was traveling south on Route 51, a four-lane highway, and ran into the rear of a rig driven by William Roy Jenkin of Cleveland, who was not hurt. The Jenkin rig, pushed 477 feet, received $300 damage, police said.

Hopes Fading For Balanced 1963 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's hopes for a balanced budget in the coming fiscal year are fading fast, due partly to legislative proposals and partly to the economy's recent sluggishness.

While administration officials refuse to concede that the battle is lost, they are increasingly less certain about achieving their economic and budgetary goals.

In January, Kennedy proposed spending $92,537,000,000 in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1. He foresaw record revenues of $93 billion—enough to produce a slim surplus of $463 million.

The slower rate of economic advance early in 1962 has put the biggest damper on January's optimism. Other factors have added to the potential swing toward continued red ink spending.

For instance, enactment of the public works program which Kennedy proposed Monday would add $350 million to spending. The tax reform bill awaiting House action would subtract $350 million from revenues.

The public works program, for areas of high unemployment, would whittle the indicated surplus to $113 million. The tax bill, if also enacted, would swing the budget into the red by $237 million.

These figures assume, of course, that all other factors would remain unchanged—which they won't. On the one hand, Congress will be paring down the administration's spending plans. On the other, the possibility of a less vigorous economic advance will present a threat to revenues.

In the January-March quarter, the gross national products—GNP—apparently totaled about $550 billion, at an annual rate. This would be $3 billion to $4 billion short of January forecasts.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We are not millionaires but one accurately might describe us as "comfortable." Our home is in the $40,000 class, we drive two cars and have three children away at school. We owe no debts and business is good.

I tell you this so you can intelligently prescribe a "cure" for my penny-pinching wife. Whenever we go out to dinner she embarrasses me by asking if the salad is "extra." The same goes for the dessert. Unless it goes with the meal she'll say, "I don't care for any," and then she puts her spoon in mine, for "a taste."

Last night the dinner check for four was $23. I left a $3.50 tip for the waiter. As we were leaving my wife took one of the dollar bills off the table and put it in her purse. I didn't want to start anything in the presence of the other couple so I remained silent.

If I am wrong to complain about such a "thrifty" woman, please tell me. If not — clobber HER.—SOLVENT.

Dear Sol: How people feel about money is ususally inextricably tied in with their early training. Your wife's problem, however, goes deeper than her feelings about money. It involves her lack of consideration for you.

Tell her if she wants to shop her feet off to save 7 cents on a can of pork and beans, fine, but you will decide how much to leave the waiter. And furthermore, if she picks up part of the tip again insist that she put it down, regardless of who is present.

Jealous Husband

Dean Ann: I play the piano like nobody's business. I can't read music and I never took a lesson in my life. I just love to sit down and bang out any old tune that comes to my mind.

My husband is jealous of my talent. Whenever we go to a party everybody begs me to play. They all crowd around the piano and I sing a little, too. Wilbur sits in the corner and sulks. When we get home he tells me I made a fool out of myself.

I've tried to interest Wilbur in music but he has an ear like a tin can. He can't remember two lines of lyrics in a row. He couldn't even memorize the words to "The Star-Spangled Banner" after 12 years of school.

Do you feel I should give up playing the piano when we are in a crowd just to keep peace in the family? Incidentally, I was playing the piano at a party when Wilbur and I met. — FANNY.

Dear Fanny: Wilbur must be out of harmony with life. If you enjoy playing the piano and others like to listen I hope you'll continue to play. But wait until they beg you good and hard.

Wilbur sounds childishly competitive. If you gave up piano playing at parties he'd probably gripe about something else.

Afraid Of Doctors

Dear Ann: I'm scared to death of doctors. When I have to get a polio shot or even a vaccination I'm so petrified I almost faint in the waiting room.

My mother and dad call me silly and I know they are right. When the shot is over I tell myself it didn't hurt at all and I was crazy to be so upset.

Please tell me how to overcome this foolish fear. I hate to go through life like this. — SCAIRDY-CAT.

Dear Cat: Ask your doctor if he can spare 10 or 15 minutes to talk to you. A good doctor will explain that your fear dates back to an early experience which was painful or frightening. He will point out that you are grown up now and that the early experience is part of the past and should be forgotten.

When you can accept this emotionally, as well as intellectually, your fears will be conquered.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Weirton Pastors To Fight Change In Liquor Laws

WEIRTON — The Rev. Charles A. Thorman, chairman, was authorized to name a steering committee to work with a state group for defeat of the proposed liquor-by-the-drink amendment at a public meeting of the Weirton Ministerial Association Sunday afternoon.

Atty. Donald R. Donell, assistant prosecutor of Hancock County, presented a legal explanation of each section of the proposed amendment which West Virginians will decide in the November general election.

A discussion followed with Rev. Thorman presiding. The Rev. George Stewart of the New Cumberland Church of the Nazarene served as secretary for the meeting at which 15 different churches, representing nine denominations, were represented.

Charter Rites Staged For 3 Scout Groups

The charter presentation for Cub Pack 7, Boy Scout Troop 7 and Explorer Troop 7, sponsored by St. Aloysius Catholic Church, was held Sunday night in the school auditorium. About 160 parents and boys were present.

Frank Rossi, vice chairman of the Cherokee District, presented the three charters to Fr. John Cunningham, assistant pastor, who in turn presented them to Robert Hissam, cubmaster, Charles McBride Jr., scoutmaster, and James McKinnon Explorer advisor.

Prayers were led by Fr. Cunningham. The flag ceremony was led by Michael Hissam, Cub Scout; Ronald Geon, Boy Scout, and James Hissam and William Miller, explorers.

Matthew Kuzmich Jr., institutional representative of the three units, presented registration cards to the committeemen and den mothers.

Banners were received by the three units for turning in their registration before the deadline. Cub Scout Pack 7 received a banner for 100 per cent subscriptions to Boys Life magazine.

Hissam presented awards to Michael Purton, gold arrow under bear; Randy Roberts, denner stripe, and David Poole, one-year pin. McBride presented awards and cards to Richard Lamp, Gary Connor, Philip Hoschar, Robert Poole, Donald Smith and Matthew Kuzmich, first class badge.

Receiving second class badges and cards were James Bess, Robert Davis, William Sharp and John Zubay. Merit badges were presented Donald Smith, on pioneering; Matthew Kuzmich III, personal fitness, and John Zubay, home repairs.

William Bulger of Columbiana, council chairman of explorers, gave a talk on explorer scouting.

Songs were sung by the Cub Scout Pack. The meeting closed with prayer by Fr. Cunningham. Refreshments were served.

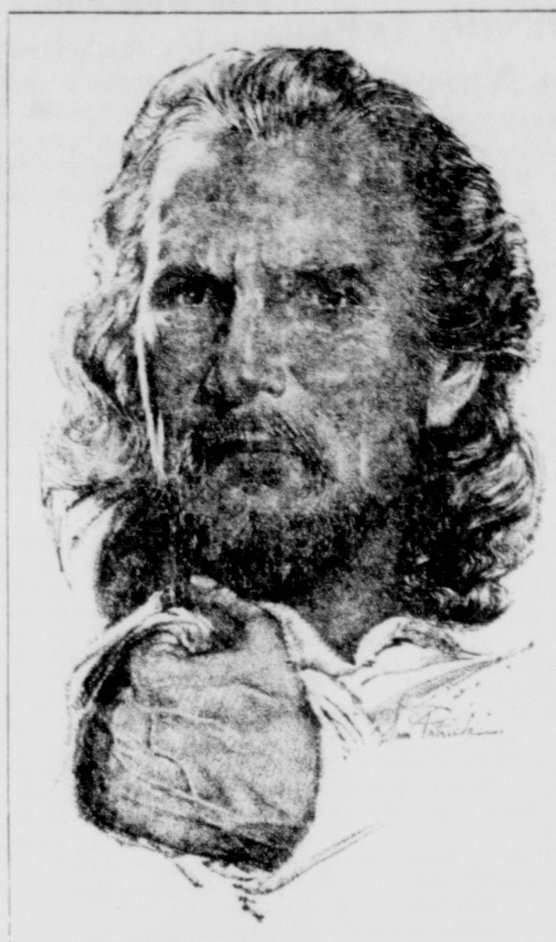
They Walked With Christ



JAMES Son of Zebedee

"And when he had gone a little farther thence, he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the ship mending their nets."

—Mark 1:19

James, like his younger brother John, was a well-to-do fisherman on the Lake of Galilee.

At the Master's call, both left their nets to become "fishers of men."

Jesus called the brothers Boanerges, meaning "Sons of Thunder," apparently because of their dynamic, burning faith.

This impetuous zeal which characterized both brothers is evident in the passage (Luke IX:51-56) which tells of the Samaritans' refusal to receive Jesus because He was enroute to Jerusalem, the capital city of their enemies, the Jews.

"And when his disciples James and John saw this they said, Lord wilt thou that we command fire to come down from heaven, and consume them even as Elias did?"

But Jesus curbed their spirit of retaliation. He told them:

"The Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them."

Instead of creating a public tumult, as well as further resistance to His message, Jesus went to another village.

James, along with John the Beloved, went with Jesus to the garden of Gethsemane on the night of agony before the Crucifixion. He was also a witness to the Transfiguration and, later, to the Ascension.

According to Scripture (Acts XII:1,2), James was arrested on orders from King Herod Agrippa shortly before Passover in the year 44, and was beheaded.

Secular history tells us that the accuser of James, who had brought him before the judges who condemned him was so deeply impressed by the apostle's faith and constancy, even under torture, that the informer was himself converted to Christianity, and suffered the same fate as James.

The characteristic of James that makes him an immortal prototype of the true believer was his steadfast faith in Jesus and His mission.

He had but to meet the Nazarene to recognize and follow Him through all the hardships, persecutions, and condemnation which followed.

Indiana Trucker Hurt In Collision

Joseph Hoover of Ft. Wayne, Ind., was admitted to Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls Monday morning afer his 1962 tractor-trailer rammed the rear of another rig on Route 51, near Darlington, about four miles east of the Ohio - Pennsylvania line.

About $12,000 damage was estimated to his rig, officers of the Beaver County barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said.

Hoover received a fracture of his right leg, laceration of the scalp and abrasions and contusions of the body, police said. The accident occurred about 5:40 a. m.

Officers said he was traveling south on Route 51, a four-lane highway, and ran into the rear of a rig driven by William Roy Jenkin of Cleveland, who was not hurt. The Jenkin rig, pushed 477 feet, received $300 damage, police said.

Hopes Fading For Balanced 1963 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's hopes for a balanced budget in the coming fiscal year are fading fast, due partly to legislative proposals and partly to the economy's recent sluggishness.

While administration officials refuse to concede that the battle is lost, they are increasingly less certain about achieving their economic and budgetary goals.

In January, Kennedy proposed spending $92,537,000,000 in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1. He foresaw record revenues of $93 billion—enough to produce a slim surplus of $463 million.

The slower rate of economic advance early in 1962 has put the biggest damper on January's optimism. Other factors have added to the potential swing toward continued red ink spending.

For instance, enactment of the public works program which Kennedy proposed Monday would add $350 million to spending. The tax reform bill awaiting House action would subtract $350 million from revenues.

The public works program, for areas of high unemployment, would whittle the indicated surplus to $113 million. The tax bill, if also enacted, would swing the budget into the red by $237 million.

These figures assume, of course, that all other factors would remain unchanged—which they won't. On the one hand, Congress will be paring down the administration's spending plans. On the other, the possibility of a less vigorous economic advance will present a threat to revenues.

In the January-March quarter, the gross national products—GNP—apparently totaled about $550 billion, at an annual rate. This would be $3 billion to $4 billion short of January forecasts.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We are not millionaires but one accurately might describe us as "comfortable." Our home is in the $40,000 class, we drive two cars and have three children away at school. We owe no debts and business is good.

I tell you this so you can intelligently prescribe a "cure" for my penny-pinching wife. Whenever we go out to dinner she embarrasses me by asking if the salad is "extra." The same goes for the dessert. Unless it goes with the meal she'll say, "I don't care for any," and then she puts her spoon in mine, for "a taste."

Last night the dinner check for four was $23. I left a $3.50 tip for the waiter. As we were leaving my wife took one of the dollar bills off the table and put it in her purse. I didn't want to start anything in the presence of the other couple so I remained silent.

If I am wrong to complain about such a "thrifty" woman, please tell me. If not — clobber HER.—SOLVENT.

Dear Sol: How people feel about money is ususally inextricably tied in with their early training. Your wife's problem, however, goes deeper than her feelings about money. It involves her lack of consideration for you.

Tell her if she wants to shop her feet off to save 7 cents on a can of pork and beans, fine, but you will decide how much to leave the waiter. And furthermore, if she picks up part of the tip again insist that she put it down, regardless of who is present.

Jealous Husband

Dean Ann: I play the piano like nobody's business. I can't read music and I never took a lesson in my life. I just love to sit down and bang out any old tune that comes to my mind.

My husband is jealous of my talent. Whenever we go to a party everybody begs me to play. They all crowd around the piano and I sing a little, too. Wilbur sits in the corner and sulks. When we get home he tells me I made a fool out of myself.

I've tried to interest Wilbur in music but he has an ear like a tin can. He can't remember two lines of lyrics in a row. He couldn't even memorize the words to "The Star-Spangled Banner" after 12 years of school.

Do you feel I should give up playing the piano when we are in a crowd just to keep peace in the family? Incidentally, I was playing the piano at a party when Wilbur and I met. — FANNY.

Dear Fanny: Wilbur must be out of harmony with life. If you enjoy playing the piano and others like to listen I hope you'll continue to play. But wait until they beg you good and hard.

Wilbur sounds childishly competitive. If you gave up piano playing at parties he'd probably gripe about something else.

Afraid Of Doctors

Dear Ann: I'm scared to death of doctors. When I have to get a polio shot or even a vaccination I'm so petrified I almost faint in the waiting room.

My mother and dad call me silly and I know they are right. When the shot is over I tell myself it didn't hurt at all and I was crazy to be so upset.

Please tell me how to overcome this foolish fear. I hate to go through life like this. — SCAIRDY-CAT.

Dear Cat: Ask your doctor if he can spare 10 or 15 minutes to talk to you. A good doctor will explain that your fear dates back to an early experience which was painful or frightening. He will point out that you are grown up now and that the early experience is part of the past and should be forgotten.

When you can accept this emotionally, as well as intellectually, your fears will be conquered.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Weirton Pastors To Fight Change In Liquor Laws

WEIRTON — The Rev. Charles A. Thorman, chairman, was authorized to name a steering committee to work with a state group for defeat of the proposed liquor-by-the-drink amendment at a public meeting of the Weirton Ministerial Association Sunday afternoon.

Fifty attended the session in the First Christian Church.

Atty. Donald R. Donell, assistant prosecutor of Hancock County, presented a legal explanation of each section of the proposed amendment which West Virginians will decide in the November general election.

A discussion followed with Rev. Thorman presiding. The Rev. George Stewart of the New Cumberland Church of the Nazarene served as secretary for the meeting at which 15 different churches, representing nine denominations, were represented.

The Rev. Grant Lowe of the New Cumberland United Presbyterian Church read the proposed amendment before Atty. Donell discussed its legal aspects.

'Closeup!' Uses Open Pore Method

John H. Secondari is not a large man physically (he only comes up to about here on you); but it's no secret that he's a very large man indeed in the realm of television documentaries.

Alan Gill

He is in charge of all ABC - TV programs in this area and is executive producer of the best public affairs series within reach. Its name, of course, is "Closeup!" — and the exclamation point is justified.

I caught up with Mr. Secondari — together with his wife, Helen Jean Rogers — last week just a few hours before he was to hop overseas on a tight shooting schedule.

-:-

"WHEREVER WE GO," the man said in a voice that can fill a warehouse, "we take everything with us. Tons of manpower and equipment: cameras, lights, motors, generators, a complete sound unit, 100,000 feet of film, the works.

"And we'll get just as close a look as we can at the subject; we'll get into the pores of it. That's what 'Closeup!' is — the open-pore school.

"You'll notice how the faces fill the screen on our programs. There are no intermediary, no commentator coming between you and the Russian student or the Italian Communist official or the Brazilian peasant.

"Remember that shot we had of the Yugoslav delegate's hands on the church unity program? A terrific shot; and it said so much about the fellow.

"WE DON'T go off into the field with all our conclusions snug and set. We depend on luck. The greatest asset a television documentary producer can have is luck. And then, there's surprise.

"Oh, we go with a few preconceived notions in our pocket. But they change, sometimes. We found, for example, that the Italian Catholic church is even more dynamic in the social and political scheme than we'd thought."

I asked Miss Rogers what kind of luck she had been having. (She's a "Closeup!" producer; she's pretty; she's immediately likeable; she's a dazzling conversationalist.)

-:-

"MY TWO BEST strokes of luck came in the programs on Brazil and on the Italian Communists. Remember the tyrannical overseer in that Brazilian plantation? He was sheer good luck. When he whipped out his pistols and shouted and began firing into the air, I think we had a really frightening but effective moment. And we got it all on film.

"Then, in the Italian program, it was the discovery that the religious procession was going to be held simultaneously with the local Communist meeting. The juxtaposition of the two gave us quite a scene."

"OF COURSE, there's bad luck with the good," her husband said. "We just had a producer, David Hardy, break a leg filming the Cambodia program. He was dancing a Highland Fling, by the way.

"And perhaps you recall that Hyde Park scene in the church unity show. It rained like the devil, but the soap box orator went on and on. Well, some of the conversation was blurred out—did you notice? We had to do that to cut out the voices of our producer and an elderly bystander.

"The producer wanted to borrow the old man's umbrella so we could get a little more visual interest into the scene.

" 'NO, NO, NO,' the man kept shouting, 'that's MY umbrella:' 'I'll give you three pounds for it,' our man said. 'No, no.' 'Five pounds!' 'But, dash it all, man, it isn't the money, it's the principle!' All that, you understand, had to come out."

Luck, surprise, the open-pore method, and, a visitor gathers, plenty of energy: these are the components of the one TV documentary that's always fresh, always thorough, always illuminating, and always a distinctive pleasure.

16 Ohio GOP Make Plea In Jobless Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen Ohio Republican House members urged Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg today to rescind his department's threat to withhold unemployment compensation administrative funds from Ohio after March 31.

In a letter written as chairman of the Ohio Republicans, Rep. Clarence J. Brown contended Ohio has had effective and impartial administration of its unemployment compensation laws for 22 years.

Brown declared further that Ohio's Board of Review is "in substantial, if not full, compliance with the provisions of the law."

The Ohioan said the Board of Review tried to acceed to procedural changes requested by the Labor Department, but two of them were held invalid by a state court.

He complained the Labor Department still is demanding the changes under threat of cutting off administrative funds, even though making these changes might place the Ohio Board of review in contempt of the court decision.

Brown urged Goldberg to "reconsider the drastic action which you propose to take at the end of March." He suggested Goldberg personally conduct a hearing to determine whether further rule changes are necessary in Ohio's administration of the program, and if so, whether they would require action by the Ohio Legislature.

Profit Squeeze Seen Tightened On Steel Firms

CLEVELAND (AP)—The profit squeeze on the U.S. steel industry tightened last year, Steel Magazine said today in a preview of its April 2 edition.

The industry's dollar volume of net profits dropped 14.2 per cent below 1960's, and its net profit of 5.2 cents per dollar of sales was the lowest since 1952's 4.9 cents, the publication said.

Steel, in its 37th annual financial analysis of the steel industry, estimates 1961 net income for the industry at $715.2 million, lowest since 1954's $637.3 million. It set sales and revenues at $13.7 billion, compared with $14.5 billion in 1960.

While 34 companies' output of steel for ingots and castings was only 1.8 per cent below that of 1960, the publication said, dollar volume of net sales and revenues was off 6.1 per cent. It said this reflected price shading and a 7 per cent decline in mill shipments of finished steel.

In the 34 companies, it noted, there were 64,500 fewer jobs in 1961 than the year before, and the federal government got $166,604,440 less in income taxes than it did in 1960.

On the plus side, it said, there was a 4.3 per cent increase in depreciation taken in 1961, and working capital last year rose 11.4 per cent above the 1960 total despite the decline in net income.

Ownership of common stock in the steel industry continued to expand in 1961, Steel said, and the number of stockholders went up 3 per cent.

Tuna, Frozen Orange Juice Termed Area's 'Best Buys'

Canned tuna and frozen orange juice concentrate are the two "top buys" this week in area food stores, according to Richard W. Skinner, market information specialist with the agricultural extension service at Canfield.

The fact that consumer buying is 24 per cent larger is encouraging Florida freezers to make a record pack — a goal that appears quite possible in view of the Agriculture Department's latest Florida orange crop estimate of 96 million boxes. One important eastern buyer anticipates an advance to come about June 1.

In the canned fish section of your favorite store you will find tuna dominates the space on the shelf. This is partially because of industry specials which are resulting in record movement from canner to the retail shelf. Leading packers have extended special allowances into March which will be passed on to the consumer by the retailers.

Buy the grade of tuna which best fits your needs. In most markets you will find four grades of tuna. The highest grade is labeled fancy white. The next grade is solid light, then chunk light and last is labeled grated tuna.

Bonita is not a tuna but is very similar in appearance and flavor. There is approximately 20 cents, difference for a six-ounce can between the highest grade of tuna and Bonita. If you are planning on using the meat in a loaf, the lower grade is the wiser choice.

Supplies of most fresh vegetables continue to be short. Cabbage and celery are short in most markets, which results in prices being above the normal level for his time of year. Supplies are increasing for pole beans and tomatoes. Endive and escarole are also lower in price and will probably remain so for the next few weeks.

Beef supplies are somewhat lighter than they were in January and early February, but the volume still is above a year ago. A fairly stable supply of beef appears likely for the next few weeks, followed by an increase by early May as larger numbers of cattle move from feed lots.

Pork supplies continue above early 1961 levels, although lighter than in the early winter. The pattern of hog marketings this winter would indicate that fairly stable supplies and prices are likely during the next few weeks.

Chicago wholesale quotes on fully cooked whole hams are four to five cents a pound below last year. Bacon is around six cents per pound lower. This leaves most pork cuts in somewhat of an "in between" position from the consumer viewpoint — not extremely high or low.

Broiler supplies are slightly larger than a year ago and are showing some seasonal increase. However, broiler placements in recent weeks have averaged four per cent below last year. This decline won't effect retail supplies until late April and May, but it may indicate more moderate supplies this summer than we had in 1961.

Turkey supplies continue larger than normal with Feb. 1 stocks around 50 per cent greater than last year.

Bliss Expects DiSalle As Foe In November

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ray C. Bliss, state Republican chairman, said Monday night he thought Gov. Michael V. DiSalle would be the Democrat the GOP gubernatorial candidate will face in November.

He made the prediction before the Cuyahoga County Republican Associates as he warned his audience against overconfidence.

"The Democratic governor is out to avenge his party's defeat in Ohio in 1960," Bliss said, "and, with the help of the best finance Democratic state organization ever, will conduct a rough, tough, down-to-earth, hard - hitting campaign for all the marbles."

Bliss did not mention DiSalle's two opponents seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.

"We'll have to turn every wheel in Ohio this year to win," Bliss said. He urged greater efforts to enlist support from the rank and file of labor and minority groups "who believe in our principles and are willing to join us if only invited."

"There is a massive switch vote in Ohio—they prefer to call themselves independents — and this vote will decide the election here this year as it did in 1960," he added.

6 In Hospitals, 3 Serious After Explosion, Fire

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Six persons remained in Akron hospitals today—three of them with serious injuries—in the wake of an explosion and fire that killed one person and caused damage estimated by fire authorities at $1 million.

The explosion and fire at the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. research center Monday killed a research chemist, Dr. Christian E. Best, 46, of Manchester.

Fire Chief Gerald F. Vernotzy said the explosion was caused by propylene gas fumes from a leaking culinder, but he was unable to say what ignited the fumes.

One of the injured, Gerald T. Morneweck, 25, was reported in serious condition at Akron City Hospital. In poor condition were Everett Packett, 23, and Kelly Farhat, 37.

Reported in fair condition at Akron General Hospital were W. R. Conrad, 45, Alfred N. Cain, 27, and R. B. DeJong.

Seven other Firestone employes were treated for cuts and burns.

Company Claims Victory Against Dissident Group

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Management of the General Fireproofing Co., without waiting for an official announcement of results of stockholder voting, claimed victory in its battle to keep a dissident group from gaining control of the board of directors.

The management statement Monday claimed election of six of its candidates to the nine-member board.

Results of the balloting were to be announced to stockholders meeting here today.

John A. Saunders, president, called it a tremendous victory for "the independent stockholders."

"By their votes, they have overwhelmingly rejected Alfons Landa and defeated his attempt to seize control of the company."

Landa's group sought six seats on the board. However, election of even three directors would increase that faction's representation. The dissident group had two places last year on the board, which then had 10 members.

'Closeup!' Uses Open Pore Method

John H. Secondari is not a large man physically (he only comes up to about here on you); but it's no secret that he's a very large man indeed in the realm of television documentaries.

Alan Gill

He is in charge of all ABC - TV programs in this area and is executive producer of the best public affairs series within reach. Its name, of course, is "Closeup!" — and the exclamation point is justified.

I caught up with Mr. Secondari — together with his wife, Helen Jean Rogers — last week just a few hours before he was to hop overseas on a tight shooting schedule.

"WHEREVER WE GO," the man said in a voice that can fill a warehouse, "we take everything with us. Tons of manpower and equipment: cameras, lights, motors, generators, a complete sound unit, 100,000 feet of film, the works.

"And we'll get just as close a look as we can at the subject; we'll get into the pores of it. That's what 'Closeup!' is — the open-pore school.

"You'll notice how the faces fill the screen on our programs. There are no intermediary, no commentator coming between you and the Russian student or the Italian Communist official or the Brazilian peasant.

"Remember that shot we had of the Yugoslav delegate's hands on the church unity program? A terrific shot; and it said so much about the fellow.

"WE DON'T go off into the field with all our conclusions snug and set. We depend on luck. The greatest asset a television documentary producer can have is luck. And then, there's surprise.

"Oh, we go with a few preconceived notions in our pocket. But they change, sometimes. We found, for example, that the Italian Catholic church is even more dynamic in the social and political scheme than we'd thought."

I asked Miss Rogers what kind of luck she had been having. (She's a "Closeup!" producer; she's pretty; she's immediately likeable; she's a dazzling conversationalist.)

-:-

"MY TWO BEST strokes of luck came in the programs on Brazil and on the Italian Communists. Remember the tyrannical overseer in that Brazilian plantation? He was sheer good luck. When he whipped out his pistols and shouted and began firing into the air, I think we had a really frightening but effective moment. And we got it all on film.

"Then, in the Italian program, it was the discovery that the religious procession was going to be held simultaneously with the local Communist meeting. The juxtaposition of the two gave us quite a scene."

"OF COURSE, there's bad luck with the good," her husband said. "We just had a producer, David Hardy, break a leg filming the Cambodia program. He was dancing a Highland Fling, by the way.

"And perhaps you recall that Hyde Park scene in the church unity show. It rained like the devil, but the soap box orator went on and on. Well, some of the conversation was blurred out —did you notice? We had to do that to cut out the voices of our producer and an elderly bystander.

"The producer wanted to borrow the old man's umbrella so we could get a little more visual interest into the scene.

" 'NO, NO, NO,' the man kept shouting, 'that's MY umbrella:' 'I'll give you three pounds for it,' our man said. 'No, no.' 'Five pounds!' 'But, dash it all, man, it isn't the money, it's the principle!' All that, you understand, had to come out."

Luck, surprise, the open-pore method, and, a visitor gathers, plenty of energy: these are the components of the one TV documentary that's always fresh, always thorough, always illuminating, and always a distinctive pleasure.

16 Ohio GOP Make Plea In Jobless Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen Ohio Republican House members urged Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg today to rescind his department's threat to withhold unemployment compensation administrative funds from Ohio after March 31.

In a letter written as chairman of the Ohio Republicans, Rep. Clarence J. Brown contended Ohio has had effective and impartial administration of its unemployment compensation laws for 22 years.

Brown declared further that Ohio's Board of Review is "in substantial, if not full, compliance with the provisions of the law."

The Ohioan said the Board of Review tried to acceed to procedural changes requested by the Labor Department, but two of them were held invalid by a state court.

He complained the Labor Department still is demanding the changes under threat of cutting off administrative funds, even though making these changes might place the Ohio Board of review in contempt of the court decision.

Brown urged Goldberg to "reconsider the drastic action which you propose to take at the end of March." He suggested Goldberg personally conduct a hearing to determine whether further rule changes are necessary in Ohio's administration of the program, and if so, whether they would require action by the Ohio Legislature.

Profit Squeeze Seen Tightened On Steel Firms

CLEVELAND (AP)—The profit squeeze on the U.S. steel industry tightened last year, Steel Magazine said today in a preview of its April 2 edition.

The industry's dollar volume of net profits dropped 14.2 per cent below 1960's, and its net profit of 5.2 cents per dollar of sales was the lowest since 1952's 4.9 cents, the publication said.

Steel, in its 37th annual financial analysis of the steel industry, estimates 1961 net income for the industry at $715.2 million, lowest since 1954's $637.3 million. It set sales and revenues at $13.7 billion, compared with $14.5 billion in 1960.

While 34 companies' output of steel for ingots and castings was only 1.8 per cent below that of 1960, the publication said, dollar volume of net sales and revenues was off 6.1 per cent. It said this reflected price shading and a 7 per cent decline in mill shipments of finished steel.

In the 34 companies, it noted, there were 64,500 fewer jobs in 1961 than the year before, and the federal government got $166,604,440 less in income taxes than it did in 1960.

On the plus side, it said, there was a 4.3 per cent increase in depreciation taken in 1961, and working capital last year rose 11.4 per cent above the 1960 total despite the decline in net income.

Ownership of common stock in the steel industry continued to expand in 1961, Steel said, and the number of stockholders went up 3 per cent.

Officials Sift Remains To Find Fire Cause

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—Officials were sifting through the remains of three buildings in the downtown area of nearby Oak Hill today to find out what started the fire which destroyed the three structures.

By the time firemen arrived on the scene Monday night the three business establishments were engulfed in flames, and about all firemen could do was to keep the blaze from spreading.

The businesses were closed down the fire broke out. No one was injured. No estimate of the loss has been set.

Tuna, Frozen Orange Juice Termed Area's 'Best Buys'

Canned tuna and frozen orange juice concentrate are the two "top buys" this week in area food stores, according to Richard W. Skinner, market information specialist with the agricultural extension service at Canfield.

The fact that consumer buying is 24 per cent larger is encouraging Florida freezers to make a record pack — a goal that appears quite possible in view of the Agriculture Department's latest Florida orange crop estimate of 96 million boxes. One important eastern buyer anticipates an advance to come about June 1.

In the canned fish section of your favorite store you will find tuna dominates the space on the shelf. This is partially because of industry specials which are resulting in record movement from canner to the retail shelf. Leading packers have extended special allowances into March which will be passed on to the consumer by the retailers.

Buy the grade of tuna which best fits your needs. In most markets you will find four grades of tuna. The highest grade is labeled fancy white. The next grade is solid light, then chunk light and last is labeled grated tuna.

Bonita is not a tuna but is very similar in appearance and flavor. There is approximately 20 cents, difference for a six-ounce can between the highest grade of tuna and Bonita. If you are planning on using the meat in a loaf, the lower grade is the wiser choice.

Supplies of most fresh vegetables continue to be short. Cabbage and celery are short in most markets, which results in prices being above the normal level for his time of year. Supplies are increasing for pole beans and tomatoes. Endive and escarole are also lower in price and will probably remain so for the next few weeks.

Beef supplies are somewhat lighter than they were in January and early February, but the volume still is above a year ago. A fairly stable supply of beef appears likely for the next few weeks, followed by an increase by early May as larger numbers of cattle move from feed lots.

Pork supplies continue above early 1961 levels, although lighter than in the early winter. The pattern of hog marketings this winter would indicate that fairly stable supplies and prices are likely during the next few weeks.

Chicago wholesale quotes on fully cooked whole hams are four to five cents a pound below last year. Bacon is around six cents per pound lower. This leaves most pork cuts in somewhat of an "in between" position from the consumer viewpoint — not extremely high or low.

Broiler supplies are slightly larger than a year ago and are showing some seasonal increase. However, broiler placements in recent weeks have averaged four per cent below last year. This decline won't effect retail supplies until late April and May, but it may indicate more moderate supplies this summer than we had in 1961.

Turkey supplies continue larger than normal with Feb. 1 stocks around 50 per cent greater than last year.

Bliss Expects DiSalle As Foe In November

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ray C. Bliss, state Republican chairman, said Monday night he thought Gov. Michael V. DiSalle would be the Democrat the GOP gubernatorial candidate will face in November.

He made the prediction before the Cuyahoga County Republican Associates as he warned his audience against overconfidence.

"The Democratic governor is out to avenge his party's defeat in Ohio in 1960," Bliss said, "and, with the help of the best finance Democratic state organization ever, will conduct a rough, tough, down-to-earth, hard-hitting campaign for all the marbles."

Bliss did not mention DiSalle's two opponents seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.

"We'll have to turn every wheel in Ohio this year to win," Bliss said. He urged greater efforts to enlist support from the rank and file of labor and minority groups "who believe in our principles and are willing to join us if only invited."

"There is a massive switch vote in Ohio—they prefer to call themselves independents — and this vote will decide the election here this year as it did in 1960," he added.

6 In Hospitals, 3 Serious After Explosion, Fire

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Six persons remained in Akron hospitals today—three of them with serious injuries—in the wake of an explosion and fire that killed one person and caused damage estimated by fire authorities at $1 million.

The explosion and fire at the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. research center Monday killed a research chemist, Dr. Christian E. Best, 46, of Manchester.

Fire Chief Gerald F. Vernotzy said the explosion was caused by propylene gas fumes from a leaking culinder, but he was unable to say what ignited the fumes.

One of the injured, Gerald T. Morneweck, 25, was reported in serious condition at Akron City Hospital. In poor condition were Everett Packett, 23, and Kelly Farhat, 37.

Reported in fair condition at Akron General Hospital were W. R. Conrad, 45, Alfred N. Cain, 27, and R. B. DeJong.

Seven other Firestone employes were treated for cuts and burns.

Company Claims Victory Against Dissident Group

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Management of the General Fireproofing Co., without waiting for an official announcement of results of stockholder voting, claimed victory in its battle to keep a dissident group from gaining control of the board of directors.

The management statement Monday claimed election of six of its candidates to the nine-member board.

Results of the balloting were to be announced to stockholders meeting here today.

John A. Saunders, president, called it a tremendous victory for "the independent stockholders."

"By their votes, they have overwhelmingly rejected Alfons Landa and defeated his attempt to seize control of the company."

Landa's group sought six seats on the board. However, election of even three directors would increase that faction's representation. The dissident group had two places last year on the board, which then had 10 members.

5 Games Continue Action At Wellsville

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY
Sports Editor

The Final Chapter . . .

The final chapter of the "Jerry Lucas Story" was written and an era in Ohio State basketball came to an end Saturday night at Louisville when the three-time All-American wore the colors of Ohio State for the last time.

The story didn't have a fairy-tale ending though, one that would have described Lucas winding up his college career in a blaze of glory by leading Ohio State to the NCAA championship. Cincinnati took care of that.

We feel Lucas literally played the final game on one leg. He couldn't jump, shoot or battle for rebounds in the manner in which he had all season.

A sprained knee suffered in Friday's game when he was bumped coming from under the basket slowed the big fellow from Middletown, but from what we saw Saturday night at Freedom Hall even if Lucas would have been 100 per cent sound, Cincinnati still would have beaten the Bucks by a good margin.

COACH Ed Jucker showed some 18,500 fans at Louisville and countless TV viewers that there still is place in basketball for defense. The Bearcats' close - knit and hustling defense held Ohio State's two top scorers — Lucas and John Havlicek — to a combined total of 22 points, 11 by each.

That was the difference. In fact, Cincy's close checking of Ohio State's guards completely threw the Bucks off from the outside. The only exception was Dick Reasbeck, who hit early in the game but was collared after that.

Hogue MVP—That's For Sure . . .

MOST Valuable Player was written all over the ponderous Paul Hogue, who proved that he shouldn't have been left off the All-American squad.

If it hadn't been for the 6-foot-9, 235-pound senior, Cincinnati wouldn't have been around to get a shot at Ohio State. Hogue's 36 points and rebounding in Friday's two-point victory over UCLA were almost unbelieveable.

Tom Thacker's bucket with 3 seconds to go gave Cincy the win over UCLA, but if Hogue hadn't played the game he did the Bearcats wouldn't have been close enough to the Bruins for Thacker to take the game-winning shot.

Jordan, McKinney Teammates . . .

ATTY. Jim Jordan of Chester, a former All-American, was a teammate of Horace "Bones" McKinney, the colorful Wake Forest coach, at the University of North Carolina.

McKinney is known far and wide for his antics on the bench. People who know him well claim he is not a showboat but just playing the game.

He never sits quiet for one second. He peeled off his coat both nights before the games were a minute old. If he isn't up yelling instructions to his players, he helps the officials by chasing the ball when it goes over the end lane and throws it back into play.

On occasions as he hands the ball to the officials, he has a few words to say if he doesn't think the game is being called properly.

Jordan, recalling his playing days with McKinney, said, "You should have seen him on our bench." Jordan, who was an All-American at North Carolina and later played at Kentucky, said "Bones has always been like that.

After Wake Forest had defeated UCLA, 82-80, for consolation honors Saturday night, Bones walked past the cheering Wake Forest crowd and proudly held up three fingers, indicating the third-place finish.

A funnyman off the court, McKinney was quoted as saying, "It's the first time a consolation game ever has given me any consolation. We were picked for third place before the season started and I consider this finishing third in the nation."

JERRY Lucas' personal career record for high school and college shows that he played in only seven losing games while the teams he has played on have won 153.

Lucas has a brother Roy, who is a starting end in football at Morehead State College in Kentucky.

UCLA Was Most Exciting Team . . .

THE most exciting team in the tourney and the one that supplied more thrills was UCLA, which fans from this area didn't have an opportunity to see on TV. The Californians were beaten both nights by a margin of two points.

The Bruins were behind 12-0 in the opening moments of Friday's semi-final clash with Cincinnati, but tied it up by halftime, then had the Bearcats on the ropes all through the second half before Thacker popped in the clincher.

That's the way UCLA has played all through the season. After losing seven of their first 11 games the Bruins came on to win 12 of their last 14 regular season games.

UCLA will lose its leading scorer Johnny Green, a fine outside shot, who gave Cincinnati fits Friday night. But the Bruins will have two outstanding sophomores returning, especially Walt Hazzared of Philadelphia, who has some of the finest moves on a basketball court that we have ever had the pleasure of watching.

The other sophomre is Fred Slaughter, a 6-foot-5 center, who still needs a little polishing but should blossom into a fine pivot man.

LaScola Coached Dayton Star . . .

BILL Chmielewski of Dayton, a sophomore who was named the Most Valuable Player in the NIT tournament Saturday at New York, was coached in high school by Joe LaScola, the former football and basketball standout at Wellsville.

In fact, Joe attended the NIT tourney and was the first person out on the floor after the game to congratulate his former star.

Chmielewski was a member of LaScola's state champion Holy Redeemer High School of Detroit which won the Michigan title three years ago.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

HOW about that Cincinnati squad. Four of the five starters are back next year. But the big loss will be in Hogue. However, Jucker will have juniors Tony Yates and Tom Thacker, along with sophomores Ron Bonham and George Wilson.

FAMILIAR faces at the NCAA tournament included Ken Cunningham, a freshman standout at Cincinnati, and Capt. and Mrs. John Moorehouse. He was the former sports editor at The Review and is now stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., after being recalled with a Canton Army reserve outfit during the Berlin crisis. Mrs. Moorehouse is the former Elvera Aley of East Liverpool.

Another person who stopped by to say hello was Ernie Ghrist, the former secretary - treasurer of Waterford Park. Ernie is a dedicated Ohio State rooter.

BILL BROKAW, a freshman, is a candidate for the Marietta College golf squad. He is the son of Atty. and Mrs. G. William Brokaw, 1316 Perry Ave.

TOM LEEK, Al Girone and Bob Carter of Salineville High School were among many from this area who attended the Ohio high school state finals in Columbus this past weekend.

MOST of Midland High's varsity from this past season has reached the finals of the New Castle Junior Tournament. Midland will meet the Gables Hotel of New Castle tonight at 9 for the championship at the YMCA there.

The Don Carter team, this year's national match team game champions, posted a 3052 series before nearly 4,000 fans. Ray Bluth led the team with a 632 series,

Kid Paret Still Remains Critical

BULLETIN
NEW YORK (AP)—The wife of boxer Benny (Kid) Paret expressed belief today her husband's condition is improving, despite doctors' word that it remains grave and unchanged. Mrs. Paret told newsmen, "I think he's getting better. He's very much improved. He's still in a coma but he tries to open his eyes. Sometimes he opens them enough so I can see the eyeballs underneath."

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny (Kid) Paret continued in a coma today as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller studied a rush report by the State Athletic Commission on the grudge fight that cost Paret his world welterweight title—and maybe his life.

A medical bulletin from Roosevelt Hospital said the 25-year-old Cuban-born boxer was in critical condition and the outlook was "extremely grave."

Emile Griffith, the new welterweight champion who battered Paret senseless at Madison Square Garden Saturday night, said in a radio interview:

"It's all a nightmare. I pray for Benny's recovery very fast. It's all in God's hands."

The State Athletic Commission went into secret session Monday under orders from the governor, who had said he was "deeply concerned and disturbed."

The commission viewed films of the fight, which was seen by millions on television, and heard testimony from nine witnesses.

The principal witness was referee Ruby Goldstein, who has been criticized by the Paret camp for not stopping the fight sooner in the 12th round when Griffith kept bashing Paret's head, caught between the ropes.

Dr. John Crisp, a chief surgical resident at Roosevelt Hospital, said Paret "is being maintained under hypothermia (treatment to lower his body requirements.)"

Crisp said at a news conference that the chances are 10,000 to 1 against Paret's ever regaining full control of his body after the brain damage he suffered. The doctor said that if he lives he might remain in a coma for a year or more.

Brain surgery was performed on Paret early Sunday.

His pregnant wife, Lucy, has been keeping vigil at the hospital since she flew here from Miami Sunday.

There had been bad blood between Paret and Griffith for about a year, during which they fought three times, and Saturday night's fight was a real grudge affair.

Griffith admittedly was angry over remarks by Paret that challenged his manhood. Griffith, a millinery designer out of the ring, had said Paret cursed and insulted him before and during the fight.

"I'm sorry now that I ever became a fighter," Griffith said. "I guess I'll go on fighting sometime, somewhere, but I don't want to think about it now."

Havana Radio Blasts Pro Boxing In U.S.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana Radio said the critical injury of welterweight champion Benny Paret was a result of what it called criminal methods of professional boxing in the United States.

Paret, 25-year-old Cuban, lost his world title to Emile Griffith after being knocked out Saturday.

Havana, Radio, monitored here Monday, said professional boxing in the United States "is being run by real gangsters who are interested only in filling their bags with dollars and do not have the least regard for the lives of the fighters."

The broadcast also scored referee Ruby Goldstein, saying he was negligent in not stopping the fight earlier.

Restless Griffith Walks The Streets

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Three days after he regained the world welterweight championship, Emile Griffith walks the streets of New York sleepless, haggard, grim-faced.

"No," said Griffith today, "I haven't had much sleep. I've been doing a lot of thinking and praying."

Saturday night in Madison Square Garden, Griffith, a New Yorker who was born in the Virgin Islands, knocked out Benny (Kid) Paret in the 12th round in their world welterweight title bout.

Paret still hasn't regained consciousness. He lies in Roosevelt Hospital, four holes drilled in his skull to relieve the effects of two blood clots near his brain. He is hanging onto a thin thread of life.

"No, I haven't seen him," Griffith said "I was at the hospital a couple of times. Once they wouldn't let me upstairs. When I went back some of Benny's friends were in the hall and I decided that I'd better not go in."

Griffith, a hat designer when he isn't in the ring, is tormented by the fact that there were hard feelings between him and Paret before the fight. He is the first to admit it.

"Now," he said sadly, "they're trying to get me to say I wanted to kill him. All I wanted was to be champion again. I didn't want to hurt him.

"People come up to me and say how come a sweet little boy like you who designs hats can turn tiger and hurt a man's brain. They all say that. When I got in the ring I forgot I was mad at him.

"Now I can't sleep and they won't even let me see him."

Griffith said he visited Msgr. Philip J. Nolan at St. Malachy's Catholic church, around the corner from the Garden, where his co-manager Gil Clancy, worships.

"The monsignor told me we can do nothing but pray and wait for God to make his decision," said Griffith. "He'll pull it out. He must for his wife and child. I can't think of her going through the rest of her life hating me."

Lucas Breaks Down, Cries At Banquet For OSU Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas, who has become famous for his lack of emotion while leading Ohio State to one NCAA championship and to the final game in two other tries, broke down and cried Monday night when he attempted to thank fans at an appreciation banquet.

The brilliant 6-foot-8 senior from Middletown, who holds a nearly perfect scholastic record, had to stop on several occasions during his brief talk before 800.

But he kept coming back and, with tears rolling down his cheeks, he said, "These four years have been the greatest of my life."

The three - time All-America, who was drafted by the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association when he was still in high school, continues to say he will not try his hand at the pro game.

After the banquet he told The Associated Press:

"My position is unchanged. I do not plan to play pro basketball, but I feel obligated to talk to the Royals since they have shown their interest in me."

More honors came to Lucas Monday night.

Teammates for the third consecutive year named him the most valuable player on the squad, and Ray Marquette, of the Indianapolis News and president of the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, presented him a trophy symbolic of the national player of the year award.

Lucas continued to favor his left knee which was injured in the NCAA semifinal game against Wake Forest. However, trainer Ernie Biggs explained that it was the type of injury that could hobble a player for a day or two but is not serious.

While Lucas was turning down a bid to play professionally, the other two members of the Buckeye Big Three were happy over their selection by NBA teams in a draft Monday.

John Havlicek beamed over being the first round draft choice of the Boston Celtics.

"I'm very proud to have been drafted by a great team like the Celtics. It's the kind of thing a fellow dreams of all his life. I am very interested and will talk to them at the proper time."

Havlicek says he still intends to go to the Cleveland Browns football camp this summer. The Lansing senior, who has not played football since he was an All-Ohio high school quarterback, was drafted by the National Football League team as an end.

Mel Nowell said he had not been contacted about his selection by the Chicago Packers, but the scrappy 6-foot-2 star said he is very interested in playing professional basketball and probably will try to land a spot on the team.

Doug McDonald, a 6-foot-5 junior from Fostoria, was elected team captain for next season. He succeeds Havlicek.

Aqueduct Race Serves As Warmup For Derby

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associaed Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kentucky Derby is less than six weeks away. And it's time for the 3-year-olds to get down to business and start asserting some authority or the traffic around ancient Churchill Downs come May 5 will be quite stuffy.

Aqueduct continues to contribute its part to the sorting out process with the $25,000-added Bay Shore Stakes, a one mile affair Wednesday. While there is no Citation or War Admiral in the group of probable starters, the Bay Shore should be a significant trial for a dozen with Kentucky ambitions.

Heading the list is Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Green Ticket, who won the 6-furlong Swift Stakes last Tuesday; Towsend B. Martin's Sunrise County; George D. Widener's Endymoin, and J. W. Rodgers' Duc d'Or.

Sunrise County finished first in Hialeah's Falmingo, but was disqualified for fouling third-place Ridan. Prego, who finished second, was awarded first, and Ridan second money.

Sunrise County carries only 119 pounds in the Bay Shore, with weights based on money earned. Green Ticket, who accounted for the $100,000 Worlds Playground Stakes last fall, must pack 130.

Prego, who would have carried 128, will be held out of the Bay Shore to await Aqueduct's $50,000 Gotham April 7.

City Softball League Will Meet Wednesday

Teams interested in joining the City Softball League are to meet Wednesday night at 7:30 in the YMCA when plans will be discussed for the 1962 season. Bob Gallagher and Frank Rossi will be in charge.

New York Knicks Draft Paul Hogue

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Donovan, coach of the downtrodden New York Knickerbockers, said today that the NCAA basketball final last Saturday erased any doubts in his mind that big Paul Hogue might not be fast enough.

Hogue, 6-foot-9 and 235 pounds, was the sparkplug of Cincinnati's victory over Ohio State for the NCAA championship in Louisville. He was drafted by the Knicks, who finished last in the Eastern Division, at the National Basketball Association draft Monday.

"I would have picked Hogue over anybody in the country after what he showed me Saturday night in Louisville," enthused Donovan. "He was our first choice all the way."

Hogue, who held three-time All-America Jerry Lucas to 11 points in the final game and was voted the most valuable player in the tournament, was a surprise choice by the Knicks. Before he changed his mind, Donovan had deemed Hogue too slow for the Knicks' needs.

Lucas, who is cool on the idea of playing professional basketball, was drafted by the Cincinnati Royals as a territorial selection. Royals' President Tom Grace tabbed Lucas as a "future" when he was graduated from high school four years ago.

He hopes to lure Lucas into the fold with a 3-year, $100,000 contract.

Billy (The Hill) McGill of Utah, the nation's top scorer, was the first choice in the draft. The Chicago Packers got him because they had the worst record in the league.

The Packers also selected Purdue's 6-7 Terry Dischinger.

Dave Debusschere of the University of Detroit was the only other territorial pick. The Detroit Pistons plucked him, but they will have to pull him away from the Detroit Tigers.

He is a top pitching prospect and the Tigers have offered him a fat bonus with a "no basketball" clause attached. The Piston management says he has promised that any baseball contract he signs will have to have a clause permitting him to play in the NBA.

The Final Chapter . . .

The final chapter of the "Jerry Lucas Story" was written and an era in Ohio State basketball came to an end Saturday night at Louisville when the three-time All-American wore the colors of Ohio State for the last time.

The story didn't have a fairy-tale ending though, one that would have described Lucas winding up his college career in a blaze of glory by leading Ohio State to the NCAA championship. Cincinnati took care of that.

We feel Lucas literally played the final game on one leg. He couldn't jump, shoot or battle for rebounds in the manner in which he had all season.

A sprained knee suffered in Friday's game when he was bumped coming from under the basket slowed the big fellow from Middletown, but from what we saw Saturday night at Freedom Hall even if Lucas would have been 100 per cent sound, Cincinnati still would have beaten the Bucks by a good margin.

COACH Ed Jucker showed some 18,500 fans at Louisville and countless TV viewers that there still is place in basketball for defense. The Bearcats' close - knit and hustling defense held Ohio State's two top scorers — Lucas and John Havlicek — to a combined total of 22 points, 11 by each.

That was the difference. In fact, Cincy's close checking of Ohio State's guards completely threw the Bucks off from the outside. The only exception was Dick Reasbeck, who hit early in the game but was collared after that.

Hogue MVP—That's For Sure . . .

MOST Valuable Player was written all over the ponderous Paul Hogue, who proved that he shouldn't have been left off the All-American squad.

If it hadn't been for the 6-foot-9, 235-pound senior, Cincinnati wouldn't have been around to get a shot at Ohio State. Hogue's 36 points and rebounding in Friday's two-point victory over UCLA were almost unbelieveable.

Tom Thacker's bucket with 3 seconds to go gave Cincy the win over UCLA, but if Hogue hadn't played the game he did the Bearcats wouldn't have been close enough to the Bruins for Thacker to take the game-winning shot.

Jordan, McKinney Teammates . . .

ATTY. Jim Jordan of Chester, a former All-American, was a teammate of Horace "Bones" McKinney, the colorful Wake Forest coach, at the University of North Carolina.

McKinney is known far and wide for his antics on the bench. People who know him well claim he is not a showboat but just playing the game.

He never sits quiet for one second. He peeled off his coat both nights before the games were a minute old. If he isn't up yelling instructions to his players, he helps the officials by chasing the ball when it goes over the end lane and throws it back into play.

On occasions as he hands the ball to the officials, he has a few words to say if he doesn't think the game is being called properly.

Jordan, recalling his playing days with McKinney, said, "You should have seen him on our bench." Jordan, who was an All-American at North Carolina and later played at Kentucky, said "Bones has always been like that.

After Wake Forest had defeated UCLA, 82-80, for consolation honors Saturday night, Bones walked past the cheering Wake Forest crowd and proudly held up three fingers, indicating the third-place finish.

A funnyman off the court, McKinney was quoted as saying, "It's the first time a consolation game ever has given me any consolation. We were picked for third place before the season started and I consider this finishing third in the nation."

JERRY Lucas' personal career record for high school and college shows that he played in only seven losing games while the teams he has played on have won 153.

Lucas has a brother Roy, who is a starting end in football at Morehead State College in Kentucky.

UCLA Was Most Exciting Team . . .

THE most exciting team in the tourney and the one that supplied more thrills was UCLA, which fans from this area didn't have an opportunity to see on TV. The Californians were beaten both nights by a margin of two points.

The Bruins were behind 12-0 in the opening moments of Friday's semi-final clash with Cincinnati, but tied it up by halftime, then had the Bearcats on the ropes all through the second half before Thacker popped in the clincher.

That's the way UCLA has played all through the season. After losing seven of their first 11 games the Bruins came on to win 12 of their last 14 regular season games.

UCLA will lose its leading scorer Johnny Green, a fine outside shot, who gave Cincinnati fits Friday night. But the Bruins will have two outstanding sophomores returning, especially Walt Hazzared of Philadelphia, who has some of the finest moves on a basketball court that we have ever had the pleasure of watching.

The other sophomre is Fred Slaughter, a 6-foot-5 center, who still needs a little polishing but should blossom into a fine pivot man.

LaScola Coached Dayton Star . . .

BILL Chmielewski of Dayton, a sophomore who was named the Most Valuable Player in the NIT tournament Saturday at New York, was coached in high school by Joe LaScola, the former football and basketball standout at Wellsville.

In fact, Joe attended the NIT tourney and was the first person out on the floor after the game to congratulate his former star.

Chmielewski was a member of LaScola's state champion Holy Redeemer High School of Detroit which won the Michigan title three years ago.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

HOW about that Cincinnati squad. Four of the five starters are back next year. But the big loss will be in Hogue. However, Jucker will have juniors Tony Yates and Tom Thacker, along with sophomores Ron Bonham and George Wilson.

FAMILIAR faces at the NCAA tournament included Ken Cunningham, a freshman standout at Cincinnati, and Capt. and Mrs. John Moorehouse. He was the former sports editor at The Review and is now stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., after being recalled with a Canton Army reserve outfit during the Berlin crisis. Mrs. Moorehouse is the former Elvera Aley of East Liverpool.

Another person who stopped by to say hello was Ernie Ghrist, the former secretary - treasurer of Waterford Park. Ernie is a dedicated Ohio State rooter.

Havlicek Drafted By Celtics

Lucas Breaks Down, Cries At Banquet For OSU Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas, who has become famous for his lack of emotion while leading Ohio State to one NCAA championship and to the final game in two other tries, broke down and cried Monday night when he attempted to thank fans at an appreciation banquet.

The brilliant 6-foot-8 senior from Middletown, who holds a nearly perfect scholastic record, had to stop on several occasions during his brief talk before 800.

But he kept coming back and, with tears rolling down his cheeks, he said, "These four years have been the greatest of my life."

The three - time All-America, who was drafted by the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association when he was still in high school, continues to say he will not try his hand at the pro game.

After the banquet he told The Associated Press:

"My position is unchanged. I do not plan to play pro basketball, but I feel obligated to talk to the Royals since they have shown their interest in me."

More honors came to Lucas Monday night.

Teammates for the third consecutive year named him the most valuable player on the squad, and Ray Marquette, of the Indianapolis News and president of the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, presented him a trophy symbolic of the national player of the year award.

Lucas continued to favor his left knee which was injured in the NCAA semifinal game against Wake Forest. However, trainer Ernie Biggs explained that it was the type of injury that could hobble a player for a day or two but is not serious.

While Lucas was turning down a bid to play professionally, the other two members of the Buckeye Big Three were happy over their selection by NBA teams in a draft Monday.

John Havlicek beamed over being the first round draft choice of the Boston Celtics.

"I'm very proud to have been drafted by a great team like the Celtics. It's the kind of thing a fellow dreams of all his life. I am very interested and will talk to them at the proper time."

Havlicek says he still intends to go to the Cleveland Browns football camp this summer. The Lansing senior, who has not played football since he was an All-Ohio high school quarterback, was drafted by the National Football League team as an end.

Mel Nowell said he had not been contacted about his selection by the Chicago Packers, but the scrappy 6-foot-2 star said he is very interested in playing professional basketball and probably will try to land a spot on the team.

Doug McDonald, a 6-foot-5 junior from Fostoria, was elected team captain for next season. He succeeds Havlicek.

Aqueduct Race Serves As Warmup For Derby

Associaed Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kentucky Derby is less than six weeks away. And it's time for the 3-year-olds to get down to business and start asserting some authority or the traffic around ancient Churchill Downs come May 5 will be quite stuffy.

Aqueduct continues to contribute its part to the sorting out process with the $25,000-added Bay-Shore Stakes, a one mile affair Wednesday. While there is no Citation or War Admiral in the group of probable starters, the Bay Shore should be a significant trial for a dozen with Kentucky ambitions.

Heading the list is Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Green Ticket, who won the 6-furlong Swift Stakes last Tuesday; Towsend B. Martin's Sunrise County; George D. Widener's Endymoin, and J. W. Rodgers' Duc d'Or.

Sunrise County finished first in Hialeah's Falmingo, but was disqualified for fouling third-place Ridan. Prego, who finished second, was awarded first, and Ridan second money.

Sunrise County carries only 119 pounds in the Bay Shore, with weights based on money earned. Green Ticket, who accounted for the $100,000 Worlds Playground Stakes last fall, must pack 130. Prego, who would have carried 128, will be held out of the Bay Shore to await Aqueduct's $50,000 Gotham April 7.

City Softball League Will Meet Wednesday

Teams interested in joining the City Softball League are to meet Wednesday night at 7:30 in the YMCA when plans will be discussed for the 1962 season. Bob Gallagher and Frank Rossi will be in charge.

New York Knicks Draft Paul Hogue

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Donovan, coach of the downtrodden New York Knickerbockers, said today that the NCAA basketball final last Saturday erased any doubts in his mind that big Paul Hogue might not be fast enough.

Hogue, 6-foot-9 and 235 pounds, was the sparkplug of Cincinnati's victory over Ohio State for the NCAA championship in Louisville. He was drafted by the Knicks, who finished last in the Eastern Division, at the National Basketball Association draft Monday.

"I would have picked Hogue over anybody in the country after what he showed me Saturday night in Louisville," enthused Donovan. "He was our first choice all the way."

Hogue, who held three-time All-America Jerry Lucas to 11 points in the final game and was voted the most valuable player in the tournament, was a surprise choice by the Knicks. Before he changed his mind, Donovan had deemed Hogue too slow for the Knicks' needs.

Lucas, who is cool on the idea of playing professional basketball, was drafted by the Cincinnati Royals as a territorial selection. Royals' President Tom Grace tabbed Lucas as a "future" when he was graduated from high school four years ago.

He hopes to lure Lucas into the fold with a 3-year, $100,000 contract.

Billy (The Hill) McGill of Utah, the nation's top scorer, was the first choice in the draft. The Chicago Packers got him because they had the worst record in the league.

The Packers also selected Purdue's 6-7 Terry Dischinger.

Dave Debusschere of the University of Detroit was the only other territorial pick. The Detroit Pistons plucked him, but they will have to pull him away from the Detroit Tigers.

He is a top pitching prospect and the Tigers have offered him a fat bonus with a "no basketball" clause attached. The Piston management says he has promised that any baseball contract he signs will have to have a clause permitting him to play in the NBA.

Hook Blasted By Orioles, Mets Drop 18-8 Decision

By JIM HACKLEMAN

With only two weeks to go before New York's spanking new Mets begin firing in earnest, Casey Stengel wanted to take a good long look at one of his front-line pitchers—Jay Hook.

It turned out a shattering experience, for the grizzled old Case, and for the young right-hander.

Facing the Baltimore Orioles Monday before a meager turnout of 736 spectators at Miami Stadium, Hook was belted with abandon as the American League club bombed the new National League entry 18-8.

The Orioles rocked Hook for six innings, clipping him for 17 of their 21 hits and 16 of their runs, with a finishing burst of 9 hits and 8 runs in the sixth. They collected two more runs and four hits against rookie Evans Killeen.

Included in the outburst against Hook were two homers by Dave Nicholson, and one each by Brooks Robinson, John Powell and Russ Snyder.

Hook, a $125,000 premier player drafted by the Mets from Cincinnati, was distraught at the pounding but emphasized he held no grudge against Stengel for leaving him in.

The manager said, "I left him in there because I want to make him a starting pitcher — a nine inning pitcher — and he worked the equivalent of nine innings. Anyway, I don't think it hurt him. And it might make a better pitcher of him."

Elsewhere in exhibition action —the streaking St. Louis Cardinals made it eight in a row, shading the Cincinnati Reds 7-6; the New York Yankees tripped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings in the first meeting of the two American League contenders this spring; the Houston Colts trounced the Los Angeles Angels 7-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Milwaukee Braves 7-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago White Sox 10-9; and the Chicago Cubs hammered the Cleveland Indians 10-4.

A seven-run explosion in the fourth inning, started by Ken Boyer's bases-empty homer and climaxed by Minnie Minoso's homer with two on, enabled the Cards to top the Reds. Cincinnati had jumped ahead 5-0 against Curt Simmons before the Cards found the range against Jim Maloney.

Pedro Gonzales, who was optioned to Richmond by the Yankees just before game time, bid farewell with a 10th-inning triple that drove in the winner against Detroit. John Blanchard, who singled before Gonzales' hit, also homered for the Yanks, as did Mickey Mantle. Rocky Colavito socked two for the Tigers.

Rookie Blows Lead, Casper Golf Victor

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla (AP)—It was right there for the taking—a bundle of cash bigger than he had yet dared to dream of, and an upset golf victory of major proportions.

Paul Bondeson, a remarkable young player at 22, but still a bit gun-shy in the company of the great, had it right in his hands in Monday's final round of the $50,000 Doral Country Club Open.

But when the showdown came on the final holes and the $9,000 winner's purse rode with every stroke, the tournament-tested veteran, Bill Casper, pushed through to win in dramatic fashion over the nervous rookie.

Leading Casper by four strokes through the 11th, Bondeson finally got the jitters and lost his entire margin on two straight double bogies.

Casper wound up with a 71 for a four-round total of 283, five under par, and one stroke ahead of Bondeson, who slipped to a 73.

The green youngster still won $4,600 for second place, however—sufficient money to keep him on the tour at a time when he was about to give up for lack of funds and return to Northbrook, Ill., where he is a teaching pro.

Casper's victory boosted him from 16th to 4th among 1962 golf money winners with a total of $15,048.

Jack Nicklaus, another bright young star who has competed in only 10 tournaments, took third in the Doral at 285 and won $3,000, the biggest purse of his career.

The old master, Ben Hogan, tied with Ted Kroll for fourth at 286.

Arnold Palmer's 11th place finish and $1,230 check made him the year's biggest money winner with $15,408 as the previous leader, Gene Littler, finished out of the money.

Top scorers and their winnings at Doral:

Bill Casper, $9,000 70-67-75-71—283
Paul Bondeson, $4,600 71-73-67-73—284
Jack Nicklaus, $3,000 69-74-69-73—285
Ben Hogan, $2,450 74-72-71-69—286
Ted Kroll, $2,450 72-72-70-72—286

Browns Grab Steeler Back

CLEVELAND (AP) — Charles Scales, reserve fullback for the Pittsburgh Steelers, has been acquired by the Cleveland Browns in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice.

"We think he might be just what we need to provide a little competition at fullback," Cleveland Coach Paul Brown said Monday. "It will be up to him to beat out Preston Powell, if he can."

Powell, a rookie last season, played behind No. 1 fullback Jim Brown and saw little action. He also was plagued by injuries.

Scales, 24, played two seasons with the Steelers. He carried the ball 50 times for 184 yards in 1961. Described as fast and a hard hitter, he is 5-foot-11 and weighs 215 pounds. He attended Indiana University.

Chicago's Hull Is Scoring Ace In Hockey Loop

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks is the National Hockey League's official scoring champion for the 1961-62 season, although he and Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers tied with 84 points.

The league office, reporting the final statistics today, said Hull will receive the scoring trophy because he scored 50 goals to 28 for Bathgate, but each will receive a $1,000 bonus that goes to the scoring leader.

The Vezina Trophy, for the goalie of the league's least scored-on team, will go to Jacques Plante of Montreal for the sixth time. Plante allowed 166 goals in 70 games, an average of 2.37 goals per game. In addition to the trophy, Plante also gets a $1,000 bonus.

Hull—also champion in 1960—wound up with 50 goals—matching the season record set by Rocket Richard and matched later by Boom Boom Geoffrion. Bathgate was the leader with 56 assists.

Alabama U. Coach Cancels Engagements

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Paul Bryant, University of Alabama football coach, has canceled all away-from-home engagements for about three months on his doctor's advice.

Bryant said Monday that he had a checkup two weeks ago and that his doctor told him he was run down.

"He said there's nothing wrong that work won't cure but to do it at home," Bryant added. "So I've canceled all engagements for a while."

That includes his plans to coach in an all-star game at Buffalo, N.Y., June 23.

4-Point Plan Is Proposed On Education

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) —A four-point program for higher education, including a new tax on cigarettes, was offered today by State Sen. Charles Whalen Jr. of Dayton.

Whalen, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, presented the third of his major position papers on state issues to the Kiwanis Club of Upper Sandusky.

He proposed:

The physical plant required to meet Ohio's increasing collegiate population be obtained from the proceeds of a $150 million bond issue.

A substantial portion of the new classrooms be located in urban centers.

The cost of the building program be borne by a permanent one-cent per package cigarette tax.

A revision in a 1955 constitutional amendment to permit creating an effective scholarship and student aid program.

To put the program into effect, Whalen, suggested the General Assembly establish a nine-man, bipartisan State University Council to be appointed by the governor.

The council, according to Whalen, would establish and evaluate overall state university objectives, approve new courses and programs, establish new state universities, determine permanent branch sites, and approve individual university budgets prior to submission to the legislature and the governor.

Paper Says Basic Steel Pact Okayed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel negotiations continue today in the wake of a published report that a basic agreement on a new wage contract has been reached.

The Detroit Free Press said Monday in an article written by Edwin A. Lahey, Free Press Washington bureau chief, that announcement of the settlement is being withheld until the 11 steel companies separately resolve certain non-economic issues.

Neither David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers president, nor R. Conrad Cooper, of U. S. Steel Corp. and chief industry negotiator, would comment on the report.

McDonald and Cooper met at a rare night session following their usual daily meetings. They recessed without holding a customary news conference. Sources close to the talks said there was nothing significant to either the night session or the lack of a news conference.

Lahey said the contract agreement is "non - inflationary" and that it "will cost the steel industry 8 to 10 cents an hour."

Board Lets Contracts To Acquire 2 Trucks

The Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water department, let two contracts totalling $3,213 Monday afternoon to purchase trucks from O. S. Hill & Co. of Pennsylvania Ave. and Maple St.

The department will acquire two International trucks — a half-ton model for $1,573 and a three-quarter ton model for $1,640. Both prices include trade-ins of old trucks. In letting the contracts, the board acted on bids which it opened March 19.

The board also let a contract to the Milliron Co. for approximately 200 tons of sand and cement mixture to be used for repair of the walls of the Thompson Ave. reservoir. Milliron's price was $20.20 per ton, less 2 per cent for payment within 10 days.

Lawrence Allison, 21, was sentenced to a year and Robert Miller, 21, of Washingtonville to six months.

Both admitted taking the girls out.

The three younger girls, each 15, were placed in temporary custody with the county Welfare Department but were released to their parents. The other girl, just turned 18, was returned to her parents. The three juveniles had a 5 p. m. curfew and are not allowed to date for the next six months, nor to associate with each other and must report to Cornelius Csepke, juvenile officer, each week.

Higher Food Prices Boost Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for foods pushed living costs up three-tenths of one per cent in February to a new record.

It was the first increase in the government's living costs index in six months and the largest increase since last July.

In announcing it today, Robert Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said however that the increase did not appear to signify a new price uptrend. He forecast continued stability but said March living costs probably also will show some increase.

The February increase put the consumers price index at 104.8 per cent of the 1957-59 base period. This was nine-tenths of one per cent higher than a year earlier.

Food prices rose during the month by six-tenths of one per cent, and were the most important cause for the over-all increase. Food prices had been expected to go down instead of up, but Myers said they were influenced by winter storms in Southern states, particularly in Florida and Texas.

Hook Blasted By Orioles, Mets Drop 18-8 Decision

By JIM HACKLEMAN

With only two weeks to go before New York's spanking new Mets begin firing in earnest, Casey Stengel wanted to take a good long look at one of his front-line pitchers—Jay Hook.

It turned out a shattering experience, for the grizzled old Case, and for the young right-hander.

Facing the Baltimore Orioles Monday before a meager turnout of 736 spectators at Miami Stadium, Hook was belted with abandon as the American League club bombed the new National League entry 18-8.

The Orioles rocked Hook for six innings, clipping him for 17 of their 21 hits and 16 of their runs, with a finishing burst of 9 hits and 8 runs in the sixth. They collected two more runs and four hits against rookie Evans Killeen.

Included in the outburst against Hook were two homers by Dave Nicholson, and one each by Brooks Robinson, John Powell and Russ Snyder.

Hook, a $125,000 premier player drafted by the Mets from Cincinnati, was distraught at the pounding but emphasized he held no grudge against Stengel for leaving him in.

The manager said, "I left him in there because I want to make him a starting pitcher — a nine inning pitcher — and he worked the equivalent of nine innings. Anyway, I don't think it hurt him. And it might make a better pitcher of him."

Elsewhere in exhibition action —the streaking St. Louis Cardinals made it eight in a row, shading the Cincinnati Reds 7-6; the New York Yankees tripped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings in the first meeting of the two American League contenders this spring; the Houston Colts trounced the Los Angeles Angels 7-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Milwaukee Braves 7-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago White Sox 10-9; and the Chicago Cubs hammered the Cleveland Indians 10-4.

A seven-run explosion in the fourth inning, started by Ken Boyer's bases-empty homer and climaxed by Minnie Minoso's homer with two on, enabled the Cards to top the Reds. Cincinnati had jumped ahead 5-0 against Curt Simmons before the Cards found the range against Jim Maloney.

Pedro Gonzales, who was optioned to Richmond by the Yankees just before game time, bid farewell with a 10th-inning triple that drove in the winner against Detroit. John Blanchard, who singled before Gonzales' hit, also homered for the Yanks, as did Mickey Mantle. Rocky Colavito socked two for the Tigers.

Rookie Blows Lead, Casper Golf Victor

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla (AP)—It was right there for the taking—a bundle of cash bigger than he had yet dared to dream of, and an upset golf victory of major proportions.

Paul Bondeson, a remarkable young player at 22, but still a bit gun-shy in the company of the great, had it right in his hands in Monday's final round of the $50,000 Doral Country Club Open.

But when the showdown came on the final holes and the $9,000 winner's purse rode with every stroke, the tournament-tested veteran, Bill Casper, pushed through to win in dramatic fashion over the nervous rookie.

Leading Casper by four strokes through the 11th, Bondeson finally got the jitters and lost his entire margin on two straight double bogies.

Casper wound up with a 71 for a four-round total of 283, five under par, and one stroke ahead of Bondeson, who slipped to a 73.

The green youngster still won $4,600 for second place, however—sufficient money to keep him on the tour at a time when he was about to give up for lack of funds and return to Northbrook, Ill., where he is a teaching pro.

Casper's victory boosted him from 16th to 4th among 1962 golf money winners with a total of $15,048.

Jack Nicklaus, another bright young star who has competed in only 10 tournaments, took third in the Doral at 285 and won $3,000, the biggest purse of his career.

The old master, Ben Hogan, tied with Ted Kroll for fourth at 286.

Arnold Palmer's 11th place finish and $1,230 check made him the year's biggest money winner with $15,408 as the previous leader, Gene Littler, finished out of the money.

Top scorers and their winnings at Doral:

Bill Casper,	$9,000	70-67-75-71—283

Browns Grab Steeler Back

CLEVELAND (AP) — Charles Scales, reserve fullback for the Pittsburgh Steelers, has been acquired by the Cleveland Browns in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice.

"We think he might be just what we need to provide a little competition at fullback," Cleveland Coach Paul Brown said Monday. "It will be up to him to beat out Preston Powell, if he can."

Powell, a rookie last season, played behind No. 1 fullback Jim Brown and saw little action. He also was plagued by injuries.

Scales, 24, played two seasons with the Steelers. He carried the ball 50 times for 184 yards in 1961. Described as fast and a hard hitter, he is 5-foot-11 and weighs 215 pounds. He attended Indiana University.

Chicago's Hull Is Scoring Ace In Hockey Loop

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks is the National Hockey League's official scoring champion for the 1961-62 season, although he and Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers tied with 84 points.

The league office, reporting the final statistics today, said Hull will receive the scoring trophy because he scored 50 goals to 28 for Bathgate, but each will receive a $1,000 bonus that goes to the scoring leader.

The Vezina Trophy, for the goalie of the league's least scored-on team, will go to Jacques Plante of Montreal for the sixth time. Plante allowed 166 goals in 70 games, an average of 2.37 goals per game. In addition to the trophy, Plante also gets a $1,000 bonus.

Hull—also champion in 1960—wound up with 50 goals—matching the season record set by Rocket Richard and matched later by Boom Boom Geoffrion. Bathgate was the leader with 56 assists.

Alabama U. Coach Cancels Engagements

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Paul Bryant, University of Alabama football coach, has canceled all away-from-home engagements for about three months on his doctor's advice.

Bryant said Monday that he had a checkup two weeks ago and that his doctor told him he was run down.

"He said there's nothing wrong that work won't cure but to do it at home," Bryant added. "So I've canceled all engagements for a while."

That includes his plans to coach in an all-star game at Buffalo, N.Y., June 23.

Higher Food Prices Boost Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for foods pushed living costs up three-tenths of one per cent in February to a new record.

It was the first increase in the government's living costs index in six months and the largest increase since last July.

In announcing it today, Robert Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said however that the increase did not appear to signify a new price uptrend. He forecast continued stability but said March living costs probably also will show some increase.

The February increase put the consumers price index at 104.8 per cent of the 1957-59 base period. This was nine-tenths of one per cent higher than a year earlier.

Food prices rose during the month by six-tenths of one per cent, and were the most important cause for the over-all increase. Food prices had been expected to go down instead of up, but Myers said they were influenced by winter storms in Southern states, particularly in Florida and Texas.

Mrs. Kennedy slipped into the heavily guarded seclusion of the small town house of her brother-in-law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill. A detail from Scotland Yard guarded the house outside and American security men were inside.

The First Lady's only announced engagement of her three-day stopover in London is a luncheon with Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday at Buckingham Palace.

Paper Says Basic Steel Pact Okayed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel negotiations continue today in the wake of a published report that a basic agreement on a new wage contract has been reached.

The Detroit Free Press said Monday in an article written by Edwin A. Lahey, Free Press Washington bureau chief, that announcement of the settlement is being withheld until the 11 steel companies separately resolve certain non-economic issues.

Neither David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers president, nor R. Conrad Cooper, of U. S. Steel Corp. and chief industry negotiator, would comment on the report.

McDonald and Cooper met at a rare night session following their usual daily meetings. They recessed without holding a customary news conference. Sources close to the talks said there was nothing significant to either the night session or the lack of a news conference.

Lahey said the contract agreement is "non - inflationary" and that it "will cost the steel industry 8 to 10 cents an hour."

The board also let a contract to the Milliron Co. for approximately 200 tons of sand and cement mixture to be used for repair of the walls of the Thompson Ave. reservoir. Milliron's price was $20.20 per ton, less 2 per cent for payment within 10 days.

4-Point Plan Is Proposed On Education

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) —A four-point program for higher education, including a new tax on cigarettes, was offered today by State Sen. Charles Whalen Jr. of Dayton.

Whalen, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, presented the third of his major position papers on state issues to the Kiwanis Club of Upper Sandusky.

He proposed:

The physical plant required to meet Ohio's increasing collegiate population be obtained from the proceeds of a $150 million bond issue.

A substantial portion of the new classrooms be located in urban centers.

The cost of the building program be borne by a permanent one-cent per package cigarette tax.

A revision in a 1955 constitutional amendment to permit creating an effective scholarship and student aid program.

To put the program into effect, Whalen, suggested the General Assembly establish a nine-man, bipartisan State University Council to be appointed by the governor.

The council, according to Whalen, would establish and evaluate overall state university objectives, approve new courses and programs, establish new state universities, determine permanent branch sites, and approve individual university budgets prior to submission to the legislature and the governor.

Noted U.S. Poet Makes Pledge On 88th Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Frost, acclaimed by leaders of government and the world of letters as "the all American and all time poet," has made an 88th birthday pledge — in verse— that his latest book of poetry won't be his last.

Chief Justice Earl Warren proposed the toast to Frost at a black tie dinner Monday night. More than an hour later, after speeches of praise and readings from his poetry, Frost took the microphone to read one himself, the last poem in his new book "In the Clearing." He read it twice, "so you'll remember."

"I see for nature no defeat
"In one tree's overthrow
"Or for myself in my retreat
"For yet another blow."

"Got it?" he asked. "That's the whole poem. That's to tell you there's another book coming."

Noted U.S. Poet Makes Pledge On 88th Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Frost, acclaimed by leaders of government and the world of letters as "the all American and all time poet," has made an 88th birthday pledge — in verse— that his latest book of poetry won't be his last.

Chief Justice Earl Warren proposed the toast to Frost at a black tie dinner Monday night. More than an hour later, after speeches of praise and readings from his poetry, Frost took the microphone to read one himself, the last poem in his new book "In the Clearing." He read it twice, "so you'll remember."

"I see for nature no defeat
"In one tree's overthrow
"Or for myself in my retreat
"For yet another blow."

"Got it?" he asked. "That's the whole poem. That's to tell you there's another book coming."

Youth, 19, In Custody For Shooting Girl, 14

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 16-year-old West Side youth sought since Friday for shooting a 14-year-old girl was in police custody today.

The boy, who surrendered Monday night, told police he had called his father from the Ohio Turnpike.

The girl, Phyliss Gabriel, was treated for a flesh wound of the cheek. Witnesses said the youth allegedly became angered and fired a .32-caliber revolver into a car full of teen-agers.

Man Gets 40 Years In Pen For Robberies

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 40-year-old Cleveland man has been sentenced to 40 years in Ohio Penitentiary for two savings and loan robberies in 1960.

A Common Pleas Court jury found James J. McDonald guilty Monday night.

McDonald was found guilty of the $14,000 holdup of the United Savings Association Office Feb. 23, 1960, and the $28,000 robbery of the West Side Federal Savings & Loan Association Nov. 1, 1960.

Akron Talks Resume On Transit Dispute

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Contract talks were to resume today amid a news blackout by negotiators for the Akron Transportation Co. and Transport Workers Local 1. Neither union nor management teams had any comment on progress in talks Monday.

The 220-member local, representing bus drivers, has voted strike authority for midnight Saturday if the contract talks fail. Issues include wages, hospitalization, and pension benefits.

DICK TRACY

STEVE CANYON

SECRET AGENT

OFF THE RECORD

"Well, sir, your uncle has left you fifty thousand."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent salt from getting into the ice cream container while freezing it?

A. Cover the top of the ice cream container with a sheet of waxed paper before the freezer lid is put on, and this will be avoided.

Q. Please suggest a treatment for preventing rust accumulation on my stored-away yard and garden tools.

A. Store these tools in a box of oil-soaked sand. Fill the box with clean sand, and then saturate it with some motor oil.

Q. The narrow plastered spaces between the tiles on my bathroom walls are dirty and unsightly. How can I rewhiten them?

A. Scrub these clean with a stiff brush. Mix some white tile cement and water to a paste. Rub this into the soiled joints, but wipe the tile clean after putting on the paste. You can renew an entire wall in just a few minutes.

Q. When working with plaster-of-paris, how can I keep it softer for a longer time?

A. By mixing it with vinegar, instead of with water.

Q. How can I remove lipstick stains from some of my linen napkins?

A. Soak the stains in liquid detergent full strength for a few minutes, then wash as usual. Then you should no longer "see red."

Q. Do you have any good suggestions on how to keep glass coffee-table tops and mirrors gleaming?

A. You can accomplish this with a minimum amount of work, just by wiping them with a dampened newspaper, then polishing with a dry one. This system leaves no lint residue either.

Junior Editors Quiz on DESERTS

QUESTION: Which is the largest desert in the world?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Of the hot deserts, the Sahara Desert is the largest. It stretches across 3,500,000 square miles. Deserts exist in almost every part of the world. Northern Mexico and the western United States have a good-sized desert, as does Siberia. There are cold deserts as well as hot ones. The Gobi Desert in Mongolia has below-freezing temperatures during six months of the year. A desert is an area where most vegetation cannot grow because there is not enough water. In some cases, heat evaporates the water too quickly for the earth to absorb it. In others, mountain ranges block off any moisture from the sea and there are no rivers to carry water into the land. Deserts are not made up exclusively of sand dunes. There are mountains in deserts, and plains of gravel and boulders as well. Some plants and animals can live in these barren areas. Minerals, such as borax, potash and nitrates are extracted from some deserts, and oil has been discovered in the Sahara.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: In spite of the lack of water, people have been living in deserts since the beginning of recorded time. Some live near oases, but others must make do with water supplies found in unlikely places. Certain plants store water, for example. How many ways can you find to obtain water in a desert?

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent salt from getting into the ice cream container while freezing it?

A. Cover the top of the ice cream container with a sheet of waxed paper before the freezer lid is put on, and this will be avoided.

Q. Please suggest a treatment for preventing rust accumulation on my stored-away yard and garden tools.

A. Store these tools in a box of oil-soaked sand. Fill the box with clean sand, and then saturate it with some motor oil.

Q. The narrow plastered spaces between the tiles on my bathroom walls are dirty and unsightly. How can I rewhiten them?

A. Scrub these clean with a stiff brush. Mix some white tile cement and water to a paste. Rub this into the soiled joints, but wipe the tile clean after putting on the paste. You can renew an entire wall in just a few minutes.

Q. When working with plaster-of-paris, how can I keep it softer for a longer time?

A. By mixing it with vinegar, instead of with water.

Q. How can I remove lipstick stains from some of my linen napkins?

A. Soak the stains in liquid detergent full strength for a few minutes, then wash as usual. Then you should no longer "see red."

Q. Do you have any good suggestions on how to keep glass coffee-table tops and mirrors gleaming?

A. You can accomplish this with a minimum amount of work, just by wiping them with a dampened newspaper, then polishing with a dry one. This system leaves no lint residue either.

Dixie Group Ends Antipoll Tax Talkfest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate goes back to its regular schedule today after Southerners suddenly broke off their 10-day talkfest against an antipoll tax amendment.

Senate leaders now feel the amendment will sail through the Senate by the end of the week.

The debate, which stopped committee hearings and held up other legislation, ended late Monday. The Senate then agreed 62 to 15 to take up the minor bill—to make Alexander Hamilton's home a national monument—that will serve as the vehicle for the amendment.

After the vote Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen he was confident the matter would be cleaned up this week with overwhelming passage of the amendment.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was quite hopeful of the same outcome. One Southern senator said privately he felt the final vote would come by the end of this week.

The Southerners had tied up almost all Senate business with their word war, but they folded late Monday without using all of the weapons at their command.

Each senator was entitled to speak twice, but several Southerners did not bother to make their second speech, even though they oppose the poll tax ban.

The sudden decision to end the speeches apparently meant the Southerners fighting the antipoll tax measure were convinced they had built up a satisfactory record of opposition with the voters in their home states.

The proposed constitutional amendment would make it impossible for any state to impose a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in a federal election. Five states—Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia—now have such a levy.

In Monday's vote, 14 Southerners joined by Sen. J. J. Hickey, D-Wyo., opposed bringing up the Hamilton bill; no Republicans supported them.

Backing the motion were 26 Republicans and 36 Democrats, including five Southern democrats —Sens. Spessard L. Holland of Florida, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, and Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas.

The second part will be presented by three teen-agers late in April, according to the Rev. William Spangler, program chairman. He was assisted in setting up the program by the club's committee on boys and girls work with the Rev. William Brown chairman.

Budget Enacted

CLEVELAND (AP)—Without a word from the Republican opposition, City Council enacted the Democratic administration's 1962 operating budget of $55,132,222 Monday night. All 27 Democrats and all 6 Republicans voted for the measure.

Ohio, Pennsylvania Leaders Differ Over Proposed Canal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Government, labor and industry leaders from Pennsylvania and Ohio have joined battle over the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River canal.

The states took opposite sides Monday at hearings on the canal conducted by the U. S. Army Engineers.

Pennsylvania officials, headed by U.S. Sens. Joseph R. Clark, Democrat, and Hugh Scott, Republican; Gov. David Lawrence, Republican; U.S. Reps. Carroll D. Kearns and James Vanzandt, and Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr, attacked the proposed waterway.

They claimed the canal would be detrimental to the interests of Pennsylvania and would be beneficial strictly to Youngstown industries.

Led by Democratic Congressman Michael J. Kirwan, Assistant Atty. Gen. Theodore R. Saker, Youngstown Mayor Harry Savasten and state representative Thomas P. Gilmartin, Ohio officials contended the canal would revive steel and coal industries in the area and solve the chronic unemployment problem.

United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald also spoke out in favor of the canal.

Some 350-500 persons attended the morning and afternoon sessions, but only about 50 turned out for the night session.

An earlier hearing had been staged in Youngstown. Monday, Cleveland officials asked for further hearings in that city.

The canal, if built, would run for about 105 miles from Lake Erie down through Youngstown to the Ohio River. Costs of the project have been estimated at $1 billion to $2.75 billion.

William C. Graham of Chester, chairman, presided.

Wellsville Red Cross Reaches Half Of Goal

The Wellsville Red Cross Fund campaign has reached $1,497, about half of the goal of $2,945, drive officials said today.

An all-out effort will be made this week to complete the campaign. None of the major phases of the campaign is complete except the professional workers division.

The officials again have issued an appeal to residents to make an effort to contribute and to the workers to complete their solicitations.

William J. Shoub, James Laughlin, Fred Baldasare and Mrs. Patricia Morris, members of the Executive board, met Saturday night to make arrangements for concluding the drive. The other members of the executive board were unable to attend.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Elmer C. Schwarz, who wants to run for state representative in the primary even if county Democrats didn't endorse him, says he'll take his fight to the Ohio Supreme Court.
